The French Overpowered and Reinforcements Within Easy Reach.

Indignation at Tours with the War Administration.

Renewal of the Fight on Tuesday.

THE PRUSSIANS DEFEATED.

Prussians Devastating the Plains of Beauce.

BATTLE OF ARTENAY.

Defeat of the French—They are Driven into a Forest—The Wood is to be Defended—Indignation in Tours at the Failure Properly to Reinforce the French Troops Engaged.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A detachment of the Army of the Crown Prince, under Gen. VON DER TANN, defeated a portion of the Army of the Loire, yesterday, near Orleans, taking 1,000 prisoners, and three pieces of artillery. The French fled in disorder.

GERMAN CAVALRY IN PURSUIT.

At last accounts from the scene of yesterday's battle at Artenay, near Orleans, the Prussian cavalry was in close pursuit of the French troops.

THE FRENCH ACCOUNT.

ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—The Commander-in-Chief of the Fifteenth Army Corps sends the following report to the Minister of War at Tours:

"About 9 o'clock this morning, at Artenay, where there was the brigade of Gen. LONGUELLE and several companies of chasseurs, we were attacked by a considerable force of the enemy, who succeeded in occupying the place. Gen. RYAN went to the assistance of the French forces with five regiments and four battalions, and also a battery of eight guns. After combating until 3 o'clock this afternoon our troops were repulsed into the forest, which I retain and shall defend at any price. The Prussians outnumbered us."

INDIGNATION AT TOURS.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—It is understood that the fighting was resumed today, near Orleans. The people of Tours are expressing their indignation at the course of the authorities in not seeing that the Fifteenth Corps was properly reinforced. The scene of the battle (which occurred yesterday near Artenay) is only three hours' ride by rail from this city, and here are collected several thousand troops, infantry, cavalry and artillery. The public is painfully impressed because these troops were not immediately forwarded to assist in the fight. [Artenay is a small village in the Department of Loiret, on the Paris and Orleans Railway, about thirteen miles north of Orleans. The population is about 1,300.]

The Battle Renewed Yesterday—Rumors of the Prussians.

CHARTRES, Oct. 10, via TOURS, Oct. 11.—Midnight.—At noon today the Prussians made another attack on Chevisy, near Dreux, in strong force. The inhabitants had erected barricades and defended the town with vigor, repulsing the Prussians after a combat of six hours' duration. The latter burnt the hamlets of Bhaville, Messangere and Bressard, in the plains of Beauce, and near Voves they set fire to several places.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—There was more fighting near Orleans today. News of a favorable result has not yet been received.

MILITARY OPERATIONS.

Importance Attached to the Holding of Metz—800,000 Chassepots Stored in the Arsenals—The Recent Fighting—Thionville—St. Quentin—Prussian Movements.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Rouen correspondent of the NEW-YORK TIMES, writing on the 8th inst., states that the Provisional Government is more anxious to effect the relief of Metz than that of Paris even, for the former fortress, he has reason to know, contains 800,000 Chassepot rifles, and immense quantities of ammunition and other stores.

TWO THOUSAND PRISONERS TAKEN BY THE PRUSSIANS.

Advices have been received from Metz to Sunday. The weather was very unfavorable for military operations. Firing from the works was steadily maintained. There was much sickness in the town, and the rinderpest had appeared in the neighborhood. The Prussians took 2,000 prisoners in the last encounter. Many of the Prussian wounded have been removed to Berlin.

OPERATIONS IN THE NORTH.

The Germans are closing in upon Thionville. They have been largely reinforced, and are receiving the siege guns from Strasbourg. A dispatch from St. Quentin, dated yesterday afternoon, says the Prussians have not reappeared in that section. There were 600 French troops of all sorts in the town.

GARIBALDI TO GO TO THE VOSGES.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—It is reported that Gen. GARIBALDI will take his forces into the Vosges, to operate against the Prussians.

BARBARITIES OF THE WAR.

The German Devastating the Plains of Beauce—Wanton Fire on the People of Mulhouse—Exterminating Warfare with the France-Tireurs—Threatened Retaliation on Prisoners—Severity in Enforcing Requisitions.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Prussians were a second time repulsed at Chevisy, but they rallied, and taking possession of the place, set fire to it. The town is now in ruins. [Chevisy is situated a few miles from Toury.] The French say the Prussians have also burned several villages in the plains of Beauce. [Beauce comprises the fertile region surrounding Chartres, and includes portions of the Departments of Eure-et-Loir and Loir-et-Cher.]

WANTON SHOOTING AT MULHOUSE.

The correspondent of the Telegraph says that the Prussians on leaving Mulhouse fired on the people of the town, killing and wounding several.

THE BLACK FLAG.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—The Prussians shoot all the France-Tireurs they capture. This is one reason why the latter carry the black flag. The atrocities are not committed by large bodies of Prussians, but by those who are not under the command of superior officers.

RETALIATION ON PRISONERS.

The Prussians, having threatened to execute the municipal authorities of Ablis, because at that place the France-Tireurs surprised the enemy, killing many and capturing others, the French Government has given official public notice that one Prussian prisoner will be shot for every person killed by the Prussians.

A large number of prisoners of war, including some Uhlans, arrived here today. The crowds of people who had collected to get a glimpse of them, appeared much exasperated, and it required strong efforts of the authorities to prevent a retaliation on the spot for the late Prussian atrocities.

SHOCKING CRUELTIES OF PRUSSIANS.

The Mayor of Tours publishes communications from persons in the different departments of France now under control of the Prussians, giving the details of the shocking cruelties committed by the Prussians in their endeavors to raise contributions where the people had been impoverished by former requisitions.

PARIS.

Presumed Opening of the Bombardment—No News at Tours for Two Days—Balloon Mails.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—It may be assumed that the Prussians opened fire on the fortifications of Paris today, postponing the bombardment of the city itself until the resistance of the people makes it unavoidable.

NO NEWS AT TOURS.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—Nothing has been heard from Paris for a day or two.

THE BALLOON POST.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—GAMBETTA's balloon brought out of Paris ten kilograms of letters, each weighing about four grains, (nearly 20,000 in number.) There were still 10,000 such waiting dispatch at the Paris Post-office. The carrier pigeons have considerably more than they can do as postmen.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Affairs in Rouen—Timidity of the Population—Garibaldi and Nice—Russian Republicans Volunteering in the French Service—French Artists Coming to New-York.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Rouen correspondent of the NEW-YORK TIMES, in giving an account of M. GAMBETTA's balloon journey, and of that of the two American gentlemen, Messrs. MAY and REYNOLDS, in the second balloon, says that on rising above Montmartre, they were fired at by the Prussians. The balls whizzed past within a disagreeably short distance.

TIMIDITY OF THE ROUEN PEOPLE.

He adds that the people of Rouen are lamentably wanting in "pluck," but may possibly show fight under Commandant DE FAHY, a redoutable fire-eater, who has promised to defend the city.

GARIBALDI'S VOW TO RETAKE NICE.

It is noticeable that the Rouen journals are growling at the reception given to GARIBALDI, in view of his former oath to retake Nice from the French. Gen. GARIBALDI has exhorted the people of Nice and Savoy to discontinue agitation at present, as it does no good, and only embarrasses France in her struggle against Prussia.

SPANISH REPUBLICANS VOLUNTEERING.

The Madrid correspondent of the NEW-YORK TIMES, writing on the 8th inst., says that the Republicans are leaving in great numbers from all parts of Spain to offer military aid to the French Government.

FLIGHT OF FRENCH ARTISTS.

The United States is threatened with quite an invasion of French artists and models. Gerome, Meissonier, Rosa Bonheur, Galant and Saintin are here with the intention of visiting and perhaps of remaining in New-York if the war continues.

The Danish Army—German Liberals on Unity—Creation of a New Order to Decorate King William—The Ex-Emperor and Miss Howard—War Shipments from Great Britain—Bourbaki Summoned to Tours.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 11.—During the debate on the Budget in the Folkthing today, the Ministry declined to make any reduction in the army estimates until the result of the war between Prussia and France is better known.

LIBERAL GERMAN CONVENTION.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Liberals in Convention at Stuttgardt, yesterday, adopted resolutions in favor of the union of Germany, with common legislation, a united army, and diplomatic representation in common.

A NEW ORDER IN HONOR OF KING WILLIAM.

The King of Saxony has instituted a new order, that of St. Henry, solely to honor the King of Prussia. The new decoration was delivered on the 9th to King WILLIAM, who, in response to the honor, complimented the Saxon troops for their gallantry.

NAPOLEON AND MISS HOWARD.

Among the documents found in the Tuileries is a deed, dated immediately after to the marriage of NAPOLEON with EUGENIE, in which nearly six millions of francs are settled by the Emperor on Miss HOWARD and her son, the Count DE BEAUREGARD.

WAR SHIPMENTS FROM LIVERPOOL.

War material is shipped daily from Liverpool in large quantities, it is supposed for France. Twelve French iron-clads passed Dover today, bound east.

GEN. UHRICH.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—The report that Gen. UHRICH will receive the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor is untrue.

BOURBAKI AND THE GOVERNMENT.

TOURS, Oct. 11.—The Government has been assured that Gen. BOURBAKI's visit to London was made in good faith. The General has been invited to come to Tours and confer with the Ministers. His arrival here is hourly expected.

FALLIAS.

The Count DE FALLIAS has offered his services to the Republic.

Clerical Animosity Toward Garibaldi—Firmness and the War Requirement—Bismarck Ready for Peace, but Not for a Truce—Rumored Death of Prince Frederick Charles.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The clerical party in France, especially in Brittany and La Vendée, have taken umbrage at the popularity of GARIBALDI, and refuse to serve under him.

RESIGNATION OF FLOURENS.

The National Guard, 10,000 strong, under Gen. GUSTAVE FLOURENS, demanded of the Government that Chassepot rifles be given them, and that a change be made in the practice of opposing on every battle-field one Frenchman to three Prussians. The answer made by the Government was unfavorable, and FLOURENS has resigned his command.

SPANISH SYMPATHY.

MADRID, Oct. 11.—Señor CASTELLAR recently received a deputation from France. He delivered a short speech, affirming that the sympathy of the Spanish people was entirely with the French Republic.

BISMARCK OPPOSED TO A TRUCE.

ROUEN, Oct. 11.—It is stated that the English Minister to France, Lord LYONS, recently suggested to Count VON BISMARCK the expediency of an armistice. VON BISMARCK replied that Prussia would be glad to make peace at any time and anywhere, but no proposition looking to a truce would be entertained for a moment.

RUMORED DEATH OF PRINCE FREDERICK CHARLES.

The journals of the city today publish the news of the death of Prince FREDERICK CHARLES of Prussia.

CITY WAR NEWS.

The French National Association.

The French Committee in aid of the French wounded in this City, which has recently been reorganized and enlarged for the purpose of continuing its operations, not only for the collection of funds, but also for receiving contributions of materials, is actively engaged in erecting a system, by which articles of every description may be collected and forwarded to this City, and an urgent appeal has been issued, calling upon merchants, farmers, manufacturers and others to contribute in aid of the cause. It is reported that different express companies have agreed to transport articles from all points in the interior free of charge. Articles thus forwarded are to be addressed to "Patriotic Aid Association for the Wounded of the French Armies, Care of Mr. M. RIVERAIN, No. 6 Vesey-street, New-York."

The day for the opening of the French national bazaar has been fixed for Tuesday, the 31st of this month.

Monsieur P. CLAUDE addressed a case of goods to Mille. Mouzaan, a French lady, residing at Milwaukee, and announced in a letter addressed to her that he would arrive in a few days himself. M. CLAUDE did subsequently arrive, and proved to be a patriotic old Frenchman, who, for many years, has resided in this country, and now labors for the cause of his native land. He was too old for the defense of his country. This old Frenchman was sixteen years of age when he was wounded at the battle of Waterloo. His family is domiciled in Metz, and he has been a compagnie of Zouaves.

Mille. ROUMOUZ has also obtained from the Lake Shore, Louisville and South-western Railway Company free transportation for goods, which are forwarded to her in aid of the French wounded; and she is now preparing another collection of articles, which will be forwarded to France by the first steamer on Saturday.

The Ladies of Richmond, Va., have made a collection of $200 75, which has been transmitted to the Committee in this City.

WASHINGTON.

Cabinet Meeting—Particulars of the Elections—Revenue Receipts—Secretary Boutwell and the Interpretation of Cattle-Observation of Storms—National Matters.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Cabinet meeting today was full, every member being present, Messrs. AKERMAN and COX having both returned. The air is full of speculation about the retirement of the latter, but there is nothing that can be said with certainty about it.

THE DEFALTING CLERK, EDWIN.

It transpires that the clerk, EDWIN, who recently turned up a defaulter in Gen. SPINNER's office, has two wives, having once been married at Binghamton, N. Y., under the name of CADY. The immediate cause of his confession was no doubt the fact made apparent yesterday by the receipt of a Government bond of the value of $1,000, from the Davenport National Bank, of Davenport, Iowa, which was sent to Gen. SPINNER, as being overpaid to that institution, some weeks since, by the Department. It appears that EDWIN's first abstraction was of a package of $5,000, belonging to this bank. When, in the course of time, the amount had to be made good, he, by mistake, put in the original wrapper which he had retained. $5,000 instead of $6,000, and this new amount was duly recorded and the package forwarded to the bank. The mistake was immediately discovered by that institution, although nothing was said about it at the time, the bank officers taking it for granted that the Treasury was cognizant of the error and would, in due course of time, officially notify them of it. The fear that the long and seemingly unaccountable delay on the part of the Government to do this would evoke a letter of inquiry from the bank, which would, of course, bring with it an investigation and discovery, it would appear, was the chief cause of EDWINS confession.

GEN. KILPATRICK.

Gen. KILPATRICK, late Minister to Chili, is in the city, looking as sound as though he hadn't been burned up with electricity last week.

CHANGE IN A MILITARY EXAMINING BOARD.

The Army Board to examine officers who are reported incompetent has been changed by withdrawing two of the members first named for it. Col. R. S. MCKENZIE, Twenty-fourth Infantry, and Col. EDWARD HATCH, Ninth Cavalry, are in Texas, and cannot be spared for this service. They have accordingly been ordered to remain at their posts. Their successors on this duty have not yet been appointed.

A FORTHCOMING TREASURY STATEMENT.

Chief Clerk SAVILLE, of the Treasury Department, has now in press a complete statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Government, by quarters, by fiscal years and by calendar years, from 1856 to 1870. It will be one of the most valuable statistical reports ever issued.

THE REGISTRY AND EXPORTATION OF CATTLE.

The Secretary of State having notified the Treasury Department that he has received information that the rinderpest has again broken out in Germany, Mr. BOUTWELL, today, issued a circular to Collectors of ports, directing them to allow no importation of neat cattle or hides from any foreign country, except Canada, unless the accompanying invoice has appended to it a Consular certificate that the cattle disease is not prevalent, and has not been recently, in the country from whence they were exported, and that the Consul is satisfied that the importation is free from disease.

OBSERVATION OF STORMS.

The preliminary plans for observation and report of storms by telegraph and signal, for the benefit of commerce, under military control, provides, among other things, for the stationing of observers at points throughout the United States, selected by competent authority as those from which reports of observation will be most useful, as indicating the condition of the atmosphere or the approach of storms. It has been in view to so locate these stations that the existence of a storm at one or more of them being determined, information of the facts may be had by the regular reports promulgated by telegraph in advance of its probable movement. Copies of all reports will be furnished to the different papers for publication, and each report will be bulletined in the Board of Trade Rooms, the Merchants' Exchange, or other conspicuous places immediately upon its receipt. Whenever experience has certainly determined what may be regarded for any section of the country as premonitions of approaching storms, signal stations will be established as quickly as the necessary arrangements can be made, and signals will be displayed, announcing the probable approach, with other information which may be possible. The signal-men to be employed on the lakes have gone to their stations, and the reports will be commenced as soon as all the arrangements can be perfected at the various signal-posts.

THE EUROPEAN MAILS.

The Postmaster of New-York having asked the Postmaster-General whether he should dispatch the mails to Europe by the Hamburg steamer which leaves New-York today, the Postmaster-General replied that he considers it unsafe and inexpedient to send mails by the German steamers at present, on account of their liability to capture by French cruisers.

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS

Republican Successes and Gains in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Voting of the Colored Men and the Result.

Elections were held yesterday for members of the House of Representatives, Forty-third Congress, in Pennsylvania, and for State officers and Congressmen in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska. The returns received up to 9 o'clock this morning from the two first States, though incomplete, seemed warranting badly, owing to the storm of last night, indicate Republican majorities. The voting was evidently light and attended by but little excitement. In Philadelphia there was much repeating, and some trouble in certain wards where the colored people, who voted for the first time, came into contact with the whites of the lower classes, but no serious disturbances occurred. Below are the details.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Majorities Thus Far Reported—Democratic Majorities—Voting by the Colored People—Some Trouble, and Almost a Riot.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The election has passed off without any serious difficulty, and with spirit, though not in all districts with such excitement as heretofore. In the centre of the city there has been nothing to remind one of the election, except the incessant tolling of the State House bell. The Telegraph of this evening says that during the past two weeks, while the Democracy were paying no attention to mass meetings, they were active in other ways, and the principal feature in which they have been engaged has been the manufacturing of voters. Hundreds of men have been brought here from other cities and given a habitation which they have only known since the first days of so-night. That hundreds of illegal votes have been polled no one will doubt. For many reasons the present political contest is of the most exciting character. Parties are mixed and confounded; tickets have been scored and split; men have been voting by judgment and conscience, not by partizanship. When the day opinions and the fight is over, strange developments, unexpected returns, will startle many of the candidates and the citizens.

VOTING BY THE COLORED PEOPLE.

The colored voters are exercising their privilege of voting for the first time. In some of the lower wards, where the colored vote is large, the colored voters were in line at the polls at 6 o'clock this morning. In several precincts the white and the colored voters formed in separate lines, but votes were taken alternately from each line. In the Fourth Ward a difficulty occurred between Alderman MCMULLIN and a colored man in the line of voters. The latter struck MCMULLIN for an alleged attempt to oust him from the line. He then ran, but was pursued, and finally gave himself up to the Police. In the Fifth Ward there was a great crowd, and the polls were obstructed. Finally the United States Marshal's officers interfered; but the delay already occasioned will prevent a full vote, as the voters in one precinct alone number 900. In anticipation of a serious riot, the United States marines have been brought up to the United States Marshal's office and posted so as to be available at short notice. The Evening Bulletin has the following regarding these new voters:

"The negroes vote at the election for the first time, and this complexity changes the scenes at the polls. The colored men are pretty generally availing themselves of their rights, and in some divisions, at times during the morning, the line of voters was composed almost entirely of that class of citizens. At Fifth and Lombard streets the scene was quite amusing. There the colored men had grown great strength, and they turned out in force. About a dozen policemen were upon the ground. All were armed with clubs, and they buffeted everybody. One big, burly fellow, in full uniform, stood so close to the window that where he had a good deal of difficulty there. When a negro presented himself, he had to dodge his way to the window, and this Irish policeman seemed particularly anxious to see his ticket. When officers attempted to remonstrate with these officers of the law, they were told, in a very rough manner, to move on, and during the entire morning, decent, orderly, and apparently intelligent colored men were dragged from the line and marched to the Central Station for daring to express an opinion of the actions of the policemen. Numerous complaints were made to Gen. E. M. CAMPBELL, United States Marshal, and he ordered his men to quietly but firmly the evils complained of. Chief MULBOLLAND sent for the Lieutenant of the District in order to have matters fixed up a little better. Between 11 and 12 o'clock Marshal GARGORY, Mayor FOX and Recorder GYMER arrived on the ground. The situation at this time was rather bad. Secesh officers took Fred's chance to vote, and the Police made more noise and contributed more toward creating a disturbance than anybody else. Mayor FOX ordered his men away from the polls, and they retired in a very bad grace. Things began to look better, and the Mayor started for his office. At noon the Mayor returned, however, the Police resumed their former positions, and if anything, made the situation worse than it had been before. The office of the United States Marshal was run down with citizens, white and colored, who came to make complaint of how things were being done in this district. The chief of the Fifth Ward, Col. GREGORY, swore in some additional deputies, and sent them to the scene. In anticipation of trouble, he sent to the Navy yard a request that the marines stationed there be held in readiness for service. He then went to Fifth and Lombard streets, to superintend affairs in that section."

ALMOST A RIOT.

A detachment of marines, under command of Brevet Lieut.-Col. JAMES FORNEY, was marched to the office of the United States Marshal, to await his orders. In the meantime a large crowd had gathered at Fifth and Lombard streets, and the squabbles which occurred between the Policemen and the people were such as to almost entirely put an end to the voting. The Police, who had their new clubs out for the first day this season, seemed particularly anxious to try them, and they struck at almost everybody who uttered a word. In three minutes we observed no less than six individuals whose heads had been cut by the policemen's clubs. One man got a scalp wound from four different clubs at the same time. The reasons were that a serious riot would soon occur, and the marines were sent for. They marched down Fifth-street, and were halted just below Pine-street. This was about 1 o'clock. By this time there was a large crowd gathered along Fifth and Lombard streets. Things seemed very quiet, however, for a quarter of an hour, and the big, burly policeman, mentioned above, was still edging his colored men out of line close to the window. The marines were then ordered to clear the street. Drums were beaten, the marines formed in line, and were marched down Fifth to Lombard, and up the latter street, far enough to get the crowd away from the poll. The appearance of the marines called forth hearty cheers from the negroes, who had been brow-beaten by the policemen during the entire morning. After the sidewalk had been cleared, a line of marines was formed along the curbstone, and the outsiders were thus kept from interfering with the voters. This was the situation at 2½ o'clock this afternoon. In the meantime, all his reserve policeman in the city had been ordered to report at the Central Station, and little after 2 o'clock, a mounted Sergeant, under Sergt. JOHNSON, of the Eighth District, started for Fifth and Lombard streets. What these men are to do we are unable to say, and the Chief of Police did not seem to know what they had been sent there for. Some lively demonstrations may take place this afternoon. In the other portions of the Fourth and Fifth Wards the election has progressed quietly, and no difficulties have been thrown in the way of the colored men who desired to vote. The same may be said of all the wards in the upper part of the city.

GENERAL NOTES.

There is considerable scratching of tickets, and it is thought that Wm. S. PEIRCE, the Democratic candidate for Judge of the District Court, will be elected over the Republican candidate. In the Second District there is no Democratic candidate, and the contest is between O'NEILL, the present member, and Chas. GERMAN, both Republicans, and each claiming to be the regular nominee. The result is doubtful. The people are making a question as to the location of the city public buildings, and the exclusions in the district is bringing out a large vote. Thus far the advocates of Penn-square seem to be in a majority over the advocates of Washington-square.

Congressman Elected—Returns from Various Districts.

SCRANTON, Penn., Oct. 11.—The Republicans have elected S. D. Shoemaker to Congress from this District, the Twelfth, Luzerne and Susquehanna Counties. The Democrats had strongly carried the district in 1868.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Oct. 11.—Fayette County gives Foster, Democrat, for Congress, 600 majority. In the Twenty-second District, Negley the regular Republican candidate for Congress has 1,800 majority over Hopkins, Democrat. The Republicans have carried Allegheny County by more than 1,000. In Allegheny County the Republican ticket is elected. In the Twenty-third District Mallorie's majority is 2,100.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—In the First Congressional District, Randall, Democrat, for Congress, is reelected by large majority. The Second District is claimed both by DELANO and CROSS. In the Third District, MYERS, Republican, is reelected. In the Fourth District, Kelley is reelected by 3,000 majority. The Fifth District is doubtful. Both candidates claim the election. In the Tenth Congressional District, three townships in Chester County give a Republican majority. Dickerson County gives a Republican majority. In the Twelfth Ward, Kelly, for Congress, gains 48. In the Fourteenth Ward Kelly, for Congress, 1,000; Thomas, 500. Scattering returns from Berks County show heavy Democratic gains. In Pittsburgh, Negley, Republican, is elected to Congress. In the Twenty-second Congressional District, for Congress, Hopkins defeats Negley by about 400. It is believed that Shoemaker, Republican, will be elected to Congress. In the Eleventh Congressional District Meadus gives about 100 Democratic majority.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Oct. 11.—The returns up to 1 o'clock this afternoon indicated the election of Negley, Rep., for Congress, by 300 majority. The Reform Republican vote is not up to expectations. The Legislative ticket will probably be a mixed one.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Evening.—The Republicans admit the electoral Greely, (lib. Rep.,) in the Second District, and O'Neill, Dem., claim the election of Kelley in the Fourth, and Harman in the Fifth District. Myers, (Rep.,) in the Third District has 300 majority.

Philadelphia.—The Republicans claim that they have lost no members of Congress so far as can be ascertained. The Republican and Reform city ticket is carried, with perhaps the exception of Lynch for District Judge, who runs far below his ticket, and may result in the election of William S. Pyle, the Democratic candidate. The result of the contest as to the location of public buildings, is decided in favor of Penn-square by a majority reaching 10,000.

Ninth District, Lancaster County—Dickey is reelected by about 2,000 majority. All the county ticket is elected by a reduced majority.

Republican Gains in Luzerne County—The Result in Scranton.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., Oct. 11.—W. G. WARD, Independent Democrat, supported by the Republican vote, is elected Recorder of this city, over MERRIFIELD, regular Democratic nominee. CARBON M. MARDEN, Republican, is elected President Judge of this judicial district, over GEORGE W. WOONWARD, by a handsome majority. The indications are that the Republicans of Luzerne County, usually from 2,000 to 4,000 Democratic, have routed the Democracy—horse, foot and dragoons.

Miscellaneous Returns from Illinois and Texas.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—In Harrisburg the Democrats carry the city ticket by an estimated majority of 300.

IOWA.

Light Returns and a Light Vote—Republican Majority.

DE MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11.—Owing to the bad roads in Dallas, Iowa, the election returns come in slowly. The vote has been light everywhere in this region. But little more than a half vote has been polled. In this Polk County, the vote is much lighter than last year, the Republican majority is in will be about 1,800, relatively larger than the majority for Merrill last year. The Republican majority in Des Moines is over 400.

The meager returns from the contiguous counties indicate that while the whole vote is light, the Republican majorities are increased according to proportion over the previous year. At this hour we have no certain figures from these counties. As far as heard from the vote in this section of the State is largely against Constitutional Convention, at least five to one.

Queens County gives 300 Republican majority. Clay County 300, Des Moines 600, and Madison County 800.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Oct. 11.—A little over half a vote was polled in this city today. Meager returns from Harding, Floyd, Blackhawk and Delaware counties indicate a large Republican majority. DODGE is elected for Congress, for the Third District, by a handsome majority.

NEW-JERSEY.

Charter Election in Newark—Voting of the Colored People.

The charter election was held in Newark, yesterday, for Auditor, Surveyor of Highways, Aldermen and other minor offices. The colored men voted for the first time, and, as it will be seen by the following statement, largely affected the result of the election. So far as received up to 12 o'clock, the returns were as foll own country. But among the most eminent, as well as in the rank and file of this class, you had many warm friends, such as T. BARING and KIRKMAN HODGSON, and the Union and Emancipation Societies, of which I shall speak presently, found a number of their staunch supporters in their ranks. The manufacturers of England were far more generous in their sympathies. CORDEN, BRIGHT and FORSTER were their representatives, as well as the representatives of the great bulk of our nation. They have no need to speak of them, for their names are honored here as they are at home.

THE CLASS AMERICANS GENERALLY MEET IN ENGLAND.

Now, before I speak of your friends, let me just remind you (did it not so probably) that a portion of the English nation of which I have been speaking than your people when they are in our country. An American has generally introductions which bring him into religious more or less intimacy with some section of that society to whief our hospitality given its tone, or he is sought out for business purposes, and comes chiefly across our mercantile classes. I cannot but believe that this fact goes far to explain, they to me, extraordinary prevalence in the belief that the English nation was on the side of the rebellion. That belief has, I hope and believe, changed considerably since the ways of that class of persons have begun to calm down; and I am not without hope that I may be able to change it yet somewhat more, with some, at least, of those who have the patience and kindness to listen to me this evening.

AMERICA'S STANCHEST FRIENDS.

And now let me turn to those who were the stanch friends of the North from the very outset. They were gathered from all ranks and all parts of the Kingdom. They were brought in by all sorts of motives. Some few had studied your history, and knew that these Southern men had been the only real enemies of their own country on American soil since the war of Independence. Many followed their own anti-slavery traditions faithfully, and cast their lot at once against the slave-owners, careless of the reiterated assertions, both on your side of the Atlantic and ours, that the Union, and not abolition, was the cause for which we fought. Many had learned to look upon your land as the great home for the poor of all nations, and to love her institutions and rejoice in her greatness, as though they in some sort belonged to themselves. All felt the tremendous significance of the struggle, and that the future of their own country was deeply involved as the future of America. To all of them the noble words of your greatest poets and stanchest patriots, which rang out in the darkest moments of the first years of the war, struck a chord sound deep in their hearts, and expressed in undying words that which they were trying to utter.

"Oh, strange you said that your land never yoked
Where young from time by galling yoke of slave."

It was in this faith that we took our stand with a firm resolution that no effort of ours should be spared to help your people shake themselves clear of the dead weight of slavery, and to preserve that vast inheritance of which God has made you the guardians and trustees for all the nations of the earth, free from the taint of standing armies, disputed boundaries and wrecked, heart-burnings and divisions of the Old World. It was little enough that we could do in any case, but that little was done with all our hearts, and on looking back cannot but think was well done.

EFFECT OF THE EARLY REBEL SUCCESSES.

There was no need at first for any organization. Until after the battle of Manassas (August, in June, 1861, there was scarcely any public expression of sympathy with the rebellion. The Times, and that portion of the Press which follows its lead, and is always ready to go in for the side they think will win, were lecturing on the wickedness of war and the absurdity of the rebel States in supposing that they could resist for a month the strength of the North, and never did that first defeat arrive, and this portion of our Press swung round, and the strong feeling in favor of the rebellion, which leavened society and the commercial world, began to manifest itself. The unlucky Trent business, and your continued want of action in the debate made matters worse. We were silenced for the moment; for though putting ourselves in your places, we could feel how bitter the surrender of the two arch rebels must have been, we could not but admit that our Government was bound to meet upon it, and that the demand had not been made in an arrogant or offensive manner. If you will re-read the official documents now, I think you, too, will allow that this was so.

INFLUENCE OF J. M. MASON.

Then came Mr. MASON's residence in London, where his house became the familiar resort of all the leading sympathizers with the rebellion. The newspaper which he started, the Index, was full week after week of false and malignant attacks on your Government. The most bitter of them, and the most easily mistaken, backed by quotations from the speeches of Mr. WILSON COLFAX and Mr. SEWARD, that the war had nothing to do with slavery—that emancipation was far more likely to come from the rebels than from you. The lie that is half a truth is ever the blackest of lies, and we felt that the truth of that wonderful saying. This had been our great difficulty from the first. Our generation had been reared on anti-slavery principles. We remembered as children how the great battle was fought in England, how even in our nurseries we gave up sugar lest we might be tasting the accursed thing, and subscribed our pence to that the chains might be struck from all human limbs. Emancipation had been the crowning glory of England in our eyes. But we found that your great force was not with us—was even slipping away and drifting to the other side. It was not only Mr. MASON's paper, and the backing he got in our Press, which was undermining it. The vehement protests of those who had been for years looked on by us as the foremost soldiers in the great cause, told in the same direction. I well remember the consternation and almost despair with which I read in Mr. PHILLIPS' speech, in this hall, on Dec. 1, 1861: "The Republicans, led by SEWARD, offer to surrender anything to save the Union. Their gospel is the Constitution, and the slave claims their Sermon on the Mount. They think that at the judgment day the blacker the sins they have committed to save the Union, the clearer will be their title to heaven."

THE EMANCIPATION AND UNION SOCIETIES.

Something must be done to counteract this, to put the case clearly before our people. Mr. MASON and his friends were already establishing a Confederate States Aid Association, and it must be met by something similar on the right side. In 1862 the Emancipation and the Union Societies were started in London and Manchester, and in the first case Mr. FIRCROFT's proclamation to strengthen our hands. The original manifesto of these societies declared their object to be "to make it clear, by the force of indisputable testimony, that the South is fighting for slavery, while the North is fully committed to the destruction of slavery, is the principal object for which this Society is organized." Its promoters do not believe that English anti-slavery sentiment is dead or enfeebled. They are confident then when the demands and designs of the South are made clear there will be no danger of England being enticed into complicity with them. We pledged ourselves to test the opinion of the country every where by public meetings, and challenged the Confederate State Aid Association to accept that test. They did so, but I never could hear of any, even a quasi public meeting, which they held in England. That meeting was in Mr. MASON's house, and was, I believe, attended by some fifty persons.

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

The first step of our societies was to hold meetings for passing an address of congratulation to your President on the publication of the emancipation proclamation. It was New-Year's Eve, 1862. One address said:

"We have watched with the warmest interest the steady and consistent policy, along the path of emancipation, and on the first of January, when your proclamation takes effect we pray God to strengthen your hands, to confirm your noble purpose, and to hasten the restoration of that lawful authority which rests upon the consent of the nation, or by force of arms, to realize the glorious principles on which your Constitution is founded—the brotherhood, freedom and equality of all men."

The address was enthusiastically adopted by a large meeting, chiefly composed of working men. At the close the chairman was a grand force behind us, for we became the subject of furious attack. The Times called us impostors, and said we got our funds for the agitation from American sources, the fact being that we always refused contributions from that side. The Saturday Review declared in one of its bitterest articles that if anything could be calculated upon as likely to defer indefinitely the greatest extinction of slavery it would be Mr. LINCOLN's fictitious abolition of it. We were meddlesome fanatics, malcontent nobodies, mischievous agitators. This was satisfactory and encouraging; we felt that we had taken the right course, and not a moment too soon.

THE FIRST OF PUBLIC MEETINGS.

The first of public meetings, which young lions are bound surely to accept as the fair gauge of what a people thinks and wills. Our first was held on the 29th of January, 1863. We took Exeter Hall, the largest and most central hall in London. We did nothing but advertise widely that such a meeting would be held, inviting all who cared to come face to face as friends. Prudent and timid people shook their heads and looked grave. The cotton famine was at its worst, and tens of thousands of our work-people were "clemming," as they call it—starving, some would say. Your prospects looked black as they had ever done. It was almost the darkest moment of the whole war. Even friends warned us that we would fail in our object and only do harm by showing our weakness, that the Confederate States Aid Association would spare no pains to break up the meeting, and that a hundred rough's sent by them there might turn it into a triumph for the rebellion. However, on we went. We trusted our people too well to fear the result. The right cause, and familiar as I am with this kind of thing, I have never seen in my time anything approaching this scene. Remember there was nothing to attract the people—no well-known orators—for we always thought it best to keep our Parliament men on their own ground; no great success to rejoice in. You were just reeling under the recoil of your gallant army from the blood-stained heights of Fredericksburg. No attack on our own Government; no appeal to political or social bases or prejudices—only doors thrown wide open, with the invitation, "Now let Exclusion come forward, and show on which side their sympathies really are in this war." Notwithstanding all these disadvantages, the great hall was densely crowded, so that there was no standing-room. Nous and the Strand and the neighboring streets were blocked with a crowd who could find no place long before the doors were open. We were obliged to organize a number of meetings on the spur of the moment in the lower hall and even in the open streets. In the great hall where two clergymen, Rev. BAPTIST NOEL and Mr. NEWMAN HALL and myself were the chief speakers, as well as in every one of the other meetings, we carried, not only without opposition, but without a single hand being held up as the opposition side resolutions in favor of your Government, of the Union and of emancipation. The success was so complete that in London our work in this way was done. These followed similar meetings in Manchester, Sheffield, Bristol, Leeds and in all the great centres of population, with precisely the same result. I don't remember that the enemy ever attempted to disturb a meeting. The country was terrified by acclamation. Our friends in Liverpool wrote with some anxiety as to the state of feeling there, and asked me to go down and deliver an address. I went, and the meeting carried the same resolution by very large majorities. It was thought, I suppose, came to disturb the proceedings thought better of it when they saw the temper of the audience, and I were gaining witness trembling you with any further details of our work. I may just add, as a proof of how those who profited to be the most active workhorses of public opinion, that I distributed tracts to every one of the parishes in London, and probably that was the first time that a tract was ever distributed in Seven Dials.

ACTION ON THE GOVERNMENT.

So much for what I may call the unofficial or extra-parliamentary struggle in England during your war; and now let me turn to the action of our Government and of Parliament. I might fairly have rested my case entirely upon what I have said in the case of nations, blessed as America and Freedom are with perfect freedom of speech and freedom of the Press, and of meetings where the issues of life, liberty and law, where men may say the thing they will freely, and without any check but the civil Courts, to pass, in my judgment, but a right to call the nation responsible for anything amongst whatever it may contain, and which I know how heavily the conduct and attitude of England has outraged your people, and still rankles in their minds, and I wished by some rough analysis, and by the statement of facts within my own knowledge, and of doubts in which I personally took an active part, to show you that you have done to very scant justice. The direct aids and sympathies which the Confederacy had in England were hostile to you; and you have taken them for the nation; and the brain and heart and muscle of England were on your side, and these you have ignored and forgotten. Now for our Government and Parliament. I will omit at once, if you please, that Lord Palmerston and some of your principal members of the Cabinet were not friendly to you, and would have gone had it to see your Republic broken up. I am by no means sure that it was so, but that point I leave out in these comments, and ask me more anxious of judging of them than are open to all of you. Your Government, I may just add, as a proof of how those who profited to be the most active workhorses of public opinion, that I distributed tracts to every one of the parishes in London, and probably that was the first time that a tract was ever distributed in Seven Dials.

IN 1863, THE RUSSION WAS STILL DARK.

In 1863, the Russion was still dark. Sidewalk and your efforts had been crowned with success, and the attitude of your nation had filled in the fire, as few nations have been in all history, those efforts had not yet been crowned with any marked success. With us it was the darkest in the whole long agony, for in it came the crisis of that attempt of the European Powers to intervene in the Joint recognition of the Confederacy, on the success of which Mr. MASON and Mr. VENABLE had reckoned. Your Government was hard of it long after all, but it was the Government of the Rebel States, and it was the Government of the Rebel States, and it was the Government of the Rebel States, and

ALLEN, sitting as an equity Judge in this case, has the power to give a personal judgment. If it accordingly could not be decreed; and also that the evidence showing Mose promise that if Tobin did not buy the plaintiff he would, constituted a direct contract with the plaintiff, upon which their judgment might be legally established.

At the close of the argument, the Court rendered a decision reversing the judgment of the Marine Court.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

Sales of the Stock Exchange—Oct. 11.

FIRST BOARD

SECOND BOARD

[illegible]

TUESDAY, Oct. 11—P. M.

The improved spirit of the Stock Exchange, and the greatly increased attendance in the Board Rooms and Long Room, are highly encouraging signs of a nearly approaching active speculation, and the Brokers not only look brighter, but begin to talk chirpy about their Fall and Winter business. It may be that the movement in the New-York and Western Roads, and in Reading, Pacific Mail, Western Union is still too much confined among themselves, but certainly the outside operators and out-of-town orders begin to be felt upon the market, and a few such days as Monday and today will soon tell upon the growth of confidence in a substantial rise in Stocks. The Vanderbilt Stocks, including the Lake Shore, and, as a collateral interest, Toledo and Wabash, are all firm and looking up; the North-west Preferred advanced above 80, Ohio and Mississippi above 34 ₱ cent, and Rock Island to 113¾, ex dividend, and the St. Paul Stocks 1@1 ₱ cent. over the prices at the close of last week. On the Miscellaneous list the excitement runs strongly on Pacific Mail and Western Telegraph, and the bidding for Canton Land Company has been advanced to 68¾ ₱ cent. In support of the speculation of New-York Central, Reading and the Western Roads, the reports of traffic and of a good understanding among the Western lines, have their influence, while the prevailing trust in the comfortable working, at moderate rates, of the Money market is not without its favorable effect upon the Brokers and their customers.

In other departments of the Exchange there is not much to remark upon. The Public Funds are steady on 5-20s, and firm on 10-40s, and the long 6 ₱ cents of 1881. The Southern State Bonds are quiet. The Pacific Railway 6 ₱ cent. Gold Bonds in fair request, and the old Western Railway mortgages scarce and firm.

The Gold Room fell to 113¾ ₱ cent. this morning, but on the development of decided scarcity for delivery later in the day the market reached to 113¾@113¾ ₱ cent. Including the sale of $1,000,000 advertised for to-morrow, the Gold disbursements of the Treasury Office this week are again likely to fall short of the sums paid into the Office for Customs. Monday and today yielded $1,200,000 for Customs, while the amounts paid out on prepayments for 5 ₱ cents of 1871 and November coupons scarcely exceed $250,000. The November and May installments of Gold Interest include the largest sums of Coupons in Foreign ownership. These came forward pretty freely last October, about seven million dollars being prepaid at the New-York Office. This season they come forward very slowly, and we are also advised that the Coupons are offered for sale or collection in Frankfort and London, thus far in limited sums. The probability is, they will be presented for payment here more gradually than usual. It is estimated that of the $29,000,000 interest, payable in November, nearly or quite $15,000 belongs abroad. Yet Foreign Exchange falls on the prospect of having this large sum to cover in addition to the customary mercantile remittances. Today the very best Bills were done at 109¾ ₱ cent. 60 days, London; the market closing a shade better for Wednesday's mail.

The probabilities of an early beginning in the good work of refunding the Public Debt at the Treasury Department, at Washington, may be judged of by the fact that the present 6 ₱ cents 5-20s proposed to be converted, are selling at a difference of 5 ₱ cent in favor of Gold. Until they are brought up to Gold again, where they stood the first week in July, on the eve of the troubles abroad they cannot be called in for payment; nor is it likely that even the new 5 ₱ cents can be sold for Gold at their par value, as limited by the Act of Congress.

Money continues cheap and easy on temporary loan to the Brokers, and easy at 7 ₱ cent. at Bank on prime paper offered for discount by regular dealers.

After the late Boards the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday night. The Stock market continued strong to the close of business:

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, who have Land Grants to the extent of 1,200,000 acres, actually put unmortgaged upon by miles, sold 11,500 acres in September for $60,000. The line of the Company connects Texas, through the Indian Territory, with the rich States of Kansas and Missouri. The progress of the work has been most rapid, though quietly prosecuted, and the line has already pierced the Indian Territory, and been recognized by the Secretary of the Interior as the road entitled to the right of way, under treaty privileges, with the Indians. We refer to these facts because the work is strictly a New-York enterprise, entitled to high praise for the unostentatious vigor and rapidity with which it has been prosecuted.

FLOUR—The demand has been rather better, and prices have ruled somewhat more favorable to buyers. We have to chronicle a fair business in low grades, purchased by the trade for home consumption, and for export. Fancy and extra brands have ruled very dull, and prices have been nominally lower. We quote Superfine State and Western at $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra State, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy State, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Western, $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra Western, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy Western, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Ohio, $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra Ohio, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy Ohio, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Southern, $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra Southern, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy Southern, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Canadian, $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra Canadian, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy Canadian, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Genuine, $4 50@$4 75 ₱ bbl.; Extra Genuine, $4 80@$5 ₱ bbl.; Fancy Genuine, $5 25@$5 50 ₱ bbl.; Superfine Southern Flour continues in moderate request at unchanged prices. Sales reported since our last of 750 bbls., at $5 25@$5 50 for poor to good Ordinary, and $6 25@$7 50 for Fancy, including 500 bbls. Fancy Family, at $7 50 ₱ bbl. Rye Flour has been in limited demand, at $4 25@$5 75 for very inferior to choice ₱ bbl., after the Corn meal continues in moderate request, at $4 50@$5, chiefly at $4 50 for Brandywine, $4 75@$5 for Jersey, and $5 for City. Corn meal, inferior to very choice, at $3 [illegible]@$4 [illegible] ₱ bbl.

GRAIN—The Wheat market has shown but little animation. The offerings have been on a reduced scale, and the principal business have been done in Duty paid, for the finest parcels of which the trade and manufacturers slightly have operated to a limited extent for purchase. The inquiry from millers has been less urgent. Toward the close of Change the tone decided to be more favorable, especially in the line of Red and Amber Winter (Michigan), of which we have comparatively moderate, running mainly on prime old and new crop, and the inquiry for dealings reported at from $1 [illegible] to $1 [illegible] ₱ bush. Amber Western and Amber Canadian, chiefly at $1 [illegible] for good to prime, and $1 [illegible] for choice. Red Western has been in fair request, and we quote at $1 [illegible]@$1 [illegible] ₱ bush. Red and Amber Southern at $1 [illegible]@$1 [illegible]. White Southern nominally at $1 [illegible]@$1 [illegible] ₱ bushel. Corn has been in brisk demand, especially toward the close, chiefly for trade purposes, though partly on speculative account, at stronger prices, causing buoyancy for prime Mixed Western, which constituted the bulk of the day's business. Nearly all at hand while in a fair state of condition, reported sold at 84½c.@84¾c., afloat, and 84½c. in store, and some good ordinary at 84c., afloat, and 84½c. in store. Sales also reported since our last of 142,000 bushels, as follows: For poor to prime Mixed Western, alloy, at 83c. for poor to prime heated, afloat, and 83½c. for Yellow Western in store and afloat. Mixed Western White, for choice, at 85c. for Chartered ₱ bushel. Rye continues dull and heavy within a range of 82c.@85c. for poor ordinary to choice Western and State ₱ bushel. Barley has been in fair request, and we hear of sales in bond, including 40,000 bushels, as follows: For poor to prime Western, afloat, 65c.@66c. for Yellow Western in store and afloat. Barley Malt, for White, for choice,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE WAR.

An engagement took place on Monday between a detachment of the army of the Crown Prince, under Gen. VON DER TANN, and the French Army of the Loire, in which, according to a London telegram, 1,000 prisoners and three pieces of cannon were taken from the French, who fled in disorder. The French General's report of the conflict to the Minister of War says that a brigade and several companies of Chasseurs were attacked by a considerable force of Prussians, at Artenay, at 9 A. M., and succeeded in occupying the place. The French were reinforced by five regiments, four battalions, and a battery of eight guns, but, at 3 P. M., they were driven into a forest, which the General in command said he should defend at all hazards. The Prussians outnumbered the French. A Tours dispatch says much indignation is felt there that the French were not properly reinforced, as there were troops at that city and the battle-field is only three hours' distant by rail. The same dispatch says it was understood fighting was renewed yesterday morning. The latest accounts by way of London from the battle-field represent the Prussian cavalry in pursuit of the French troops.

A London dispatch says it is asserted that the Prussians opened the bombardment of the works about Paris yesterday, deferring the shelling of the city until the resistance of the inhabitants makes it unavoidable. No news from Paris has been received at Tours for two days. Our Rouen correspondent telegraphs that the French Government is more anxious to relieve Metz than Paris even, as in the former place are 80,000 Chassepot rifles and vast quantities of ammunition and military stores. On Sunday, cannonading continued all day at Metz. In the last encounter there, the Prussians are said to have taken 2,000 prisoners. Disease is prevalent in the town, and riderpest among the cattle of the neighborhood. The people of Rouen are represented to be wanting in pluck; but a "fire-eating" French officer has undertaken the defense of the place, and they may rally under his inspiration. They complain of the reception given to GARIBALDI, in view of the Italian's vow to retake Nice. The Germans are closing in around Thionville, and preparing to shell the place. GARIBALDI will go to the Vosges with his volunteers. Dispatches from Tours represent that the Prussians shoot all the Franc-Tireurs they capture, and that, in consequence, the Franc-Tireurs carry the black flag. It is also stated that the Germans threaten to execute the municipal authorities of Ablis, where they were surprised by the French, and they have therefore been notified that the French Government will shoot one [illegible]

Our Madrid correspondent telegraphs that the Spanish Republicans are about to France in large numbers to volunteer in the service of the Republic. A member of French Bonapartist [illegible] London on the way to New-York, where they propose to remain should the war continue. Among them are GREMON, RIBEROTTE, ROSA BONHEUR, GALAFT and SALETTE. The Danish Ministry declines to submit the army until the result of the Franco-Prussian war is known. The German Effenbahn, in convention at Stuttgardt, have voted in favor of a union of Germany with a common legislature, army and representation allowed. The King of Saxony has created a new Order in honor of the King of Prussia—the "Order of St. Henry." Gen. BOURBAKI has been summoned to Tours to answer the accusation of leaving his post to visit England.

To New-York Merchants and Bankers.

The section of the Democratic Party which refuses to co-operate any longer with the Tammany Ring has resolved to place Mr. THOMAS A. LEDWITH before the people as candidate for Mayor. In our opinion, it is the duty of every honest Republican to support this course, and to work hard and persistently for Mr. LEDWITH'S election. In the first place, he is a man of good character; in the next, he stands outside that abominable clique which looks upon the public simply as a thing to be plundered. If our merchants and bankers will for once arouse themselves from that lethargy which has already cost them so dear, and take the trouble to cast their ballots on the 8th of November, Mr. LEDWITH may easily be elected Mayor, and we shall also carry the State for our own party. Let the Reformed Democracy now nominate Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN for Controller, and they will have driven another nail into the coffin of the Ring. We can assure our readers that if they will condescend to take the most ordinary interest in the coming election, they may disperse the gang of thieves who are now preying upon the City, and who are preparing for the people a series of "jobs" compared with which their past exploits will seem mere child's play. If the people want, for instance, to save the Central Park—now in the clutches of the Ring—from utter spoliation, they must use their political rights on the 8th of next month. It will be too late afterward to shake their heads dolefully over the ruin of a Park which is at present the glory of the City.

We appeal especially to our bankers and merchants, for they are the persons who have the largest amount of property at stake in the City, and by a strange perversity they are the most indifferent to all efforts from outside to protect their interests. It is not too much to say that they exhibit an apathy with regard to contests like those now before us, which is simply cowardly and disgraceful. They are robbed on the right hand and on the left, and they sit quietly and look on, and say to anybody who remonstrates with them, "It is better to be robbed of a few thousand dollars than to incur the trouble of going to the polls on election days." This sort of spirit would very soon ruin any nation if it once became universal. It would lead to the irrevocable destruction of all public liberties. It would render a community of free men more helpless and more degraded than a community of slaves. If any man says "It is of no use to vote," we tell him that he does not understand what he is [illegible] very moment, TWEED and all his despicable accomplices are quaking in their shoes. They know that the schism within their own party threatens to be fatal to them. They know that the Congressional Election law will prevent them from winning the election by fraud. They see plainly that the tide of public indignation is rising higher and higher against them every day, that their outrageous swindles and false pretenses are exposed, that their cruel oppression of the poorer class of taxpayers is exciting the just anger even of Democrats. Now is the time for honest men of all parties to rid the City of these mangrel "politicians"—these hay-seed loafers, who rise suddenly from the gutter to be the owners of "surgeons mansions," and who swill punch on Sundays, as the World assures us, in "palatial stables." We can get rid of them all, or nearly all, next month, and there ought to be little necessity for us to make appeal after appeal to the respectable classes—to do what? To move a finger to suit politicians? To help the poor—or to benefit people they care nothing about? No—but to protect their own rights and interests, to send TWEED and his myrmidons back again to the mire from which they sprung, and to place this noble City once more under the rule of men who will not be in secret league with the scourings of the jails.

We implore the public to believe what is the sober truth—namely, that the moment they take this subject into their own hands, a remedy for all the evils of which they complain may be found. And what more can they possibly want to induce them to strike a blow at the riff-raff who now hold possession of the chief public offices in this City? They see all their best interests endangered. They see men who were never able to earn an honest living in their lives, tyrannizing over the whole community. They see the very Judiciary so shamefully tampered with under the direction of the Governor himself, that a private citizen no longer stands a chance of obtaining redress against TWEED, or FISK, or any of their gang. If all this, and twenty times as much, is not sufficient to stir people to indignation, what under Heaven would be? Will any merchant tell us that it "is not worth while" to cast a vote to bring this vast system of fraud and wrong-doing to an end? Here, in the freest community in the world, we see an organized banditti, calling itself a Government, absolutely suppressing popular rights and liberties. Such a despotism as this would not be possible in the most despotic of countries. And upon our merchants and bankers, and the "moneyed classes" generally, rests the undying reproach of making no effort to clear the country of this foul scandal. There is no excuse for inaction on the 8th of next month. The Congressional law will afford ample means of protecting the citizens at the polls. The "Ring" knows that it is in jeopardy. Let the Reformed Democracy take the City offices,—they cannot do worse than TWEED and his underlings, and the probability is that they would do a vast deal better. We say then, support Mr. LEDWITH. If Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN could be induced to serve as Controller, the man who is known as "Slippery Dick" could be done away with, and it would be possible to get a report of City expenditure once more from the Controller's office. These reports have been dishonestly suppressed for two years and a half, and Mr. CONNOLLY declines to give any explanation of this impudent trick at the public expense. If our merchants, bankers, and trading classes generally will not take the trouble to cast their votes on the 8th of next month, TWEED and his gang will make them smart for it in a way which, we undertake to promise, will soon bring them to reason. They had better take our advice. They will find it the pleasantest in the end.

Opera for New-York.

Metropolitan music-lovers will be rejoiced to hear that there is at least a reasonable prospect, if not a strong probability, of a brilliant revival of opera during the coming season. Certainly things never looked more favorable for so desirable an event. We have with us, today, four of the first constellations on the operatic stage, Mlle. NILSSON, Mme. PARepa, Miss KELLOGG and Miss PHILLIPS—not to speak of CARLOTTA PATTI, who, notwithstanding her disadvantages, has appeared with eminent success in opera before, and may again. Miss NILSSON, it is known, is quite willing to sing in lyric dramas during her present visit. In the way of tenors we have BRIGNOLI and LEFRANC, for baritones, flesh capable artists as VERGER and RANDOLFI, and so good a basso as HERMANNS. Besides this abundant material already on hand, Europe offers us the resources of her choicest capital. The song-birds that were wont to make their nests in the pleasant places of Paris, driven thence by stress of war, will not all be absorbed by London and Vienna. Some, at least, will doubtless find their way to our shores. Music's great temple alone, engaged originally for the French capital, offers a splendid opportunity for managerial enterprise.

In this unusual combination of favorable circumstances there is great promise for the Winter. We are not so sanguine as to hope, in the face of past experience, that one season, however brilliant and successful, will be the precursor of a permanent operatic establishment. And yet there seems no good reason why opera in New-York should hitherto have been so precarious an enterprise, or why impresarii from PALMO to MAPLESON, should so uniformly have failed. In earlier times, indeed, the explanation was not difficult to find. Musical taste in those days was less frequently met with than rigorous ideas with regard to amusements. JENNY LIND herself created her great furor as much by her agents' unparalleled audacity in advertising as by her wonderful voice. But now we have changed all that. Musical taste is almost as common with us today as musical culture, and the accuracy of our judgment is made manifest by the number of singers whose reputations, founded in New-York [illegible] the canons of European criticism. KELLOGG, the PATTI, MORENSI, PHILLIPS, MCCULLOCH, BARILI: here is a brilliant head-roll of talent to which New-York audiences gave the initial stamp of approval. With all this musical appreciation, with a multitude of artists at hand, with conductors nowhere excelled, with skillful managers, with unrivaled material for choruses in our numerous trained singing societies, and lastly, with an opera-house which, if not acoustically perfect, is at least a vast improvement on its predecessor, and probably as well adapted to its aims as any on the continent—it seems strange that opera has always languished.

Much has been said about the exorbitant demands of the stockholders, who claim all the most desirable seats in our Academy of Music, and a great deal of censure and reproach has been visited on these gentlemen for what is called their obstinacy and selfishness. Undoubtedly the stockholding system is one which disappoints the public and cramps the resources of the manager for meeting his always enormous expenses. But admitting the evils of the system, there is something to be said on both sides of this vexed question. What appears to an outsider to be selfishness, may seem to the stockholders themselves only the enforcement of their just rights. And certainly when a man has paid an extravagant premium for a choice seat, it is hardly fair to debar him from using it, except for a class of performance which neither he nor anybody else may care to see. Perhaps the simplest arrangement to satisfy all these conflicting interests would be the foreign plan of "subscription" nights, whereby a certain number of evenings being alloted to the stockholders, known as subscription nights and duly announced as such, the house during the rest of the week is thrown open to the public. Since it is to the interest of the stockholders that the house should not be closed, they will be found amenable, we venture to say, to any fair proposition for compromise. What other obstacles to a successful operatic season may result from less obvious reasons we do not care to touch, and do not believe to be insurmountable. With a little graceful pliancy on the part of all concerned, a little managerial enterprise, and a degree of liberality on the part of the public, we might fairly expect to have such an opera as has never been equaled in the lyric annals of New-York.

Fraudulent Laws.

The "Ring" seized and appropriated this State to its own use with a party cry against "special legislation." The Republicans were bitterly denounced for their efforts to legislate against robbery, fraud, repeating, false counting, and rascality in general, upon the ground that such special enactments were an interference with the rights of the people. Well, the "Ring" had full swing in the Legislature last Winter, and what was the result? The laws which they ground out during (and, as was gravely charged, forged after) the last session have at length appeared in book form. And a precious book it is, consisting of two enormous volumes of 2,821 pages. The best part of the year has been occupied in getting these laws before the public, and it is plain that if such annual installments of manufactured infamy keep increasing at anything like the present pace, the public will soon have to wait for years after their passage before getting a peep at the laws which they are called upon to obey. But the beauty of it is that these "Ring" laws are one grand mass of special legislation. Nothing like it was ever seen in this State or in any other State in the Union. Judge EDMONDS, in condemning these legislative orders of Mr. TWEED, found but two hundred pages which he thought of sufficiently general importance to entitle them to a place in his last volume.

Our readers will recollect with what ostentation Gov. HOFFMAN occasionally vetoed some little bill, which was not of the smallest consequence—parading a stern and dignified rebuke of this hugbear of special legislation—while he spent days in signing and apologizing for all kinds and descriptions of similar bills—for his Tammany and Erie friends. Indeed, it will be found from an examination of the heterogeneous mass of iniquity contained in these fat and ponderous volumes, that he did not even confine himself to Tammany and Erie, but signed every thing right and left—laws special and general; jobs big and little. We find twenty special relief acts; thirty-four releases to individuals of land interests of the State, additional compensation acts, code amendments for the preservation and perpetuation of "Erie," special charters of cemeteries, 147 special laws applicable to the City of Brooklyn, and—must it be said?—over 300 applicable to poor Commissioner and radical-ridden New-York. All these are entirely independent of the charter, Tax-levy, and other huge and already well-ventilated swindles. These volumes cry aloud. They indicate that TWEED, FISK and their man HOFFMAN, have had their full turn. The people's turn comes next. They never approve of rascality with a written apology. They vote.

Tweed and Fisk in their Proper Characters.

Yesterday, at Mr. FISK'S Opera-house, was performed the solemn farce which, by a somewhat daring figure of speech, was called the Erie election. There was wanting to the spectacle neither pride of circumstance nor pomp of power. TWEED the First was in the chair, and FISK, Jr., was his principal support. Handsome apartments were displayed, elegantly furnished at the expense of the shareholders of the Company, and an imposing retinue of athletic attendants crowded every corridor and watched at every corner. One by one, or in small and despairing groups, indignant shareholders dropped in—only to gather from suppressed laughter and significant interjections that the Erie clique had little to fear from the instinctive impulses of proprietors to protect their depreciated investments. Where, they asked, was the President? Where was the Sous-[illegible] learn what had become of their shares? The unsophisticated questioners were, no doubt, from the point of view of the Company's officials, supremely ridiculous. But possibly to the minds of persons who have wives and families dependent on the interest of their stock, there was not wanting an undertone of pathos.

Where was the President? Not in the election room, for there he would have been accessible to the protests against the irregularity of the election. Not to be approached by the vulgar proprietors of stock, for some forty trained men,—like the body-guard of a Roman Emperor,—were ready to maintain by force, if prevarication were unavailing, the inviolable privacy which wraps the majesty of the great JAY GOULD.

The inquiries for the President probably proceeded from persons hailing from the inner part of the State, who were unacquainted with the habits of FISK and his confederates. It was but a few days ago that these simple people fancied that they might be allowed to look at the Transfer-books, and thus ascertain that their stock was correctly entered, upon the apparently superannuated principle that the law of the land expressly authorizes them to do so. It was but a few days ago that they were subject to a delusion that they might, if they pleased, protect their own interests by voting—as every intelligent stockholder is bound to see—that no entries were made in the books during such period as the statute prescribes. Perhaps they thought that an election implied an element of choice, and that persons whose property is being prodigally confiscated were entitled to some account of the transaction. But they had overlooked the fact that in the Erie creed the sheep are made for the watch-dog, and not the watch-dog for the sheep. Perhaps they were regretfully thinking of a past time, when rights implied remedies. If so, in the searching language of a great thinker, "they mistook memories for hopes." For the present, they may be well assured that so long as HOFFMAN sits in the Governor's chair, right will be constituted by the power of retention, and justice will savor rather of Tammany than of the Bible. Certain it is that the shareholders were again shamefully victimized and cheated yesterday. And TWEED, who is practically the Governor of this State, presided over the operation. Ought not people to be very anxious to see him reign forever? Is he not well matched in FISK—and are they not worthy of each other?

Gen. Woodford Vindicated.

"What says Gen. WOODFORD?" asked the Sun a fortnight ago, in giving prominence to the charges preferred by Mayor HALL against the Republican candidate for the Governorship of this State. As a most conclusive confirmation of the categorical denial given to the charges in question, we present this morning a dispatch from our special correspondent in London, containing a statement of what APPLETON OAKSMITH says about the leading accusation brought forward by Mayor HALL. There are people, we presume, to whom direct evidence from an independent source is of more weight than any amount of explicit denial from the party accused, even when that party happens to be an honorable and high-toned gentleman. To all such we commend the perusal of the affidavit of the man with whose traffic Mayor HALL would have us believe that General WOODFORD was dishonorably identified. We beg them carefully to note the points of the document. First, it is made voluntarily, and on oath; next, it covers the entire range of the charge in question; third, the contradiction is unreserved and complete; fourth, there is collateral evidence given to show that the alleged connection was absurd; and lastly, the statements are those of a man whose political sympathies and professional callousness might have been expected to deter him from taking any notice of an injustice which his name had been employed to cover. To this pass have the party tactics of the Democracy come at last. From the mouth of a bitter hater of everything Republican, comes a stinging denunciation of the "assassin-like party engineering" that would make political capital out of baseless slander, and seek to defeat an opponent by a stab in the dark. Can the most virulent party rancor get behind the solemn and unsolicited declaration of this unlooked-for witness, that the whole of the charges in which his name was associated with that of STEWART L. WOODFORD "are absolutely and unqualifiedly false and untrue?" Will the most credulous of Democrats be able to believe, after so crushing a disproof, that the rest of the charges made rest on any better foundation?

What Rice Means May be Again.

It has been the fashion among a certain class of City Republicans, to excuse their political indifference on election days by what is really a very false plea. What is the use, they say, of troubling ourselves to add a few names to the Republican vote when there is sure to be an overwhelming majority against us? Apart, however, from the moral cowardice of this pretense, an examination of the record of past years shows unmistakably where united effort has resulted in Republican successes. Of course, those occasions on which gigantic frauds swelled the Democratic returns beyond all possibility of defeat, must be left out of the account. That will not occur again in November, and the Republicans may very easily win, as they have won before. For example! FERNANDO WOOD was beaten in 1857 by DANIEL F. TIEMANN. It is true that the latter was a Democrat, but he was an honest one, and the object of the Republicans being to terminate a rule which was obnoxious to them, they were justified in uniting with straightforward members of the opposite party. The majority for TIEMANN was not large, but it sufficed.

On other occasions the defeat of the Republican candidate has been due solely to a suicidal division of the party. Mayor HOFFMAN's majority, in 1865, was only 1,168 over MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, who would have been elected but for the Citizen Association's candidate, JOHN HECKER, for whom many Republican members of that organization voted. And this leads us to refer to the article in another column, which shows that Tammany has been many times beaten by this very kind of side effort, and that, in fact, the elections have been carried by a minority of the whole vote in many cases. It was not until it had consolidated its strength, and backed it by the manufacture of thousands of spurious votes, that it could count upon success. Now, however, there is again a serious breach in the Democratic ranks, and the Republican Party may look with greater hope to carrying their ticket than ever before. If those Republicans who grumble, but stay at home on election day, would just for once exert themselves, victory is certain. We have many honest Democrats with us, and the opportunity for overthrowing the Ring and its evil doings must not be lost.

"Tom Brown" in Jonathan.

We give today a complete report of the lecture delivered in Boston yesterday evening by Mr. THOMAS HUGHES, M. P., the well-known author of Tom Brown's School Days. The point of view is frankly avowed, but we have sense enough to remember the steadfast advocacy of Mr. HUGHES during our time of trial to acquit him of anything approaching to national prejudice in dealing with such a subject. Every one will recognize the fitness of such an address as the first public utterance of one who came among us emphatically as a welcome guest; and well-worn as the subject is, its treatment in the direct outspoken style of the author of Tom Brown will lend it a new and unlocked for interest. There is throughout the entire oration a refreshing absence of the mawkish sentimentality of after-dinner references to the relations between the two countries. Mr. HUGHES does not conceal the fact that there have been in the past causes of disagreement which cannot be dismissed under the phrase of a family quarrel. His two months' sojourn in this country have impressed the fact, with a new significance, on his mind, that England has provoked from the mass of our population a large degree of distrust, and in some cases of hatred. With a reticence which may always be recommended to distinguished strangers, Mr. HUGHES has held his tongue until he honestly judged it was time to speak. "Hear the other side" is practically the motto of his address. Of this much, at least, we may assure our English guest and steadfast friend, that due attention will be given to his very clear statement of a complicated subject, and that the presence of such men as he in the councils of the British nation will remain, even under unfavorable circumstances, some guarantee for our respect and confidence.

What is the amount of the City debt? What is the value of the bonds now out? Here are two apparently business-like questions—but let any of our readers try to obtain an answer to them, and they will soon discover that the matter is not so simple as it looks. The books of the "concern" are all "doctored," and worthy Mr. CONNOLLY will take care that no information leaks out of his office. And yet merchants say it "does not signify." How would they like the same system introduced into the management of their own establishments?

The broad and fertile valley of the Loire continues to be the most active theatre of hostilities. The possession of Artenay, secured by the victory of the 10th, gives the Prussians almost total command of the railway between Paris and Orleans, placing them, as it does, within thirteen miles of that city. If the "Army of the Loire" has a local habitation as well as a name, it is time that it gave some evidence of its existence. Between the Prussians and the great City of Orleans, there is now but the forest of the same name, occupied by a beaten General with partially demoralized troops. This ancient and celebrated expanse of wood begins a few miles beyond Artenay, and covers every approach to Orleans on the north and north-east. If anything can nerve French patriotism to a supreme effort, it is surely the recollection that five hundred years ago the heroine of a maiden turned, in this same Orleans, the tide of an invasion much more disastrous than the present has yet become. But even a JOAN OF ARC could not save a country that is not true to itself.

Anything relating to Quarantine seems inevitably to produce a row. Whether it be the fault of Dr. CARNOCHAN, or of the Board of Health, or in the instance last reported, the professionally bellicose disposition of Gen. MCDOWELL, we do not profess to determine; but in any case the uniformity of the phenomenon is sufficiently remarkable. Apart from its intrinsic merits, we commend the letter of Gen. MCDOWELL as very lively reading, showing, as it does, that the Commander of the Department of the East is no less at home in dialectic than in military strategy. As a mere matter of logical fence, most readers will think that the Board of Health ought to have parried the General's very palpable thrust about the barbarous nature of their disinfecting expedients. As a matter of public safety, it is gratifying to find that the fever at Governor's Island is abating, and that the health authorities are now convinced that the danger is substantially over.

The unenviable reputation of the Philadelphia firemen is in danger of being eclipsed by the rowdyism of the Democratic policemen of the Quaker City. Acting, doubtless, under the orders of the managers of the party which that, as here, finds its profit in surrounding the ballot box with all the available ruffianism of the City, the nominal guardians of the law busied themselves yesterday in forcibly obstructing the colored citizens in their exercise of the franchise, and in fomenting instead of quelling a disgraceful riot. Is this a sample of what we are to expect in New-York, from the constitutional freedom which the World promises to repeaters?

King VICTOR EMMANUEL has appeared on the "stump," and seems to have made a speech whose round periods are as remarkable as its general want of intelligibility. The independence of the Pontiff and a united Italy, are two things that, however desirable in themselves, can hardly coexist. The King, however, guarantees both, and the rest of the world will be somewhat curious to see how the feat is to be accomplished. In Rome on one side of the Tiber is to be a sort of ecclesiastical sanctuary, where the temporal power, though frightfully shrunk, may still retain its old prerogative of antiquated misgovernment, or in one of the most profusely endowed sees of the Church to admit Pius IX. to a share of his throne?

Every day the war gains in ferocity. Each side magnifies the atrocities of the other, and both seem disposed to practice the law of Saladin to an extent hitherto rare in civilized warfare. The legacy of bitterness and hatred that a contest waged in the spirit that is rapidly animating the present one, will leave behind it, is beyond all calculation, as its effects will probably be beyond all historical precedent.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theatrical.

LOTTA AT NIBLO'S.

A change of bill was made at Niblo's, on Monday evening, and Miss LOTTA was brought before the public in the dual part in "Little Nell and the Marchioness." So often has this drama been represented, that we need not now take account of its good qualities, or of its defects. The contrast between the angelic simplicity of Nell and the eccentricity of the Marchioness is made as vivid as ever, and the manifold accomplishments of the little lady prove as pleasing. Miss LOTTA, by the way, has added to her repertory of songs a composition which THERESA made popular in Paris previous to the late transformation of that city, and "The Tyrolean Dear" is likely now to become as well known here as it is abroad. After noting the really cheerful impression Miss LOTTA'S acting, singing and dancing make upon the audience, the impersonation of Dick Swiveller by Mr. VINING BOWERS, and that of Quilp by Mr. FELIX ROGERS, are to be mentioned as features of particular excellence. The animation and picturesqueness of the fair scene show that the commendable efforts of the management have not been limited to a careful distribution of characters. The same entertainment is to be repeated every evening this week, and at a matinee on Saturday.

THE GERMAN DRAMA.

"Harmless" is to be given at the Fourteenth-street Theatre for the first time this season, this evening. Mlle. VERETTA will represent Mme. de Pompadour. Mme. SEBRACH will act in "Kabale und Liebe" on Friday.

Musical.

GOTSCHALK CONCERTS.

We remind the reader that the first concert by the Messrs GOTSCHALK will be given at Association Hall this evening. Singing by Mr. HALL, baritone, and violin performances by M. PEZZE, will be heard, besides the contributions of the sisters to the programme.

Equestrian.

NEW-YORK CIRCUS.

Mr. L. B. LENT has opened the New-York Circus at the appointed time, and the entertainment supplied by his company has been witnessed already by two very large audiences. Most fortunate in the possession of his superb building, and most politic in the choice of an excellent company, the present series of representations will probably be as pleasant and as profitable as those given in former years. The programme now includes fourteen different acts. Some marvelous feats of balancing are done by Mr. LEVANTION. Master FRANK MELVILLE rides, with numerous interludes of somersaults. Mlle. CAROLINE ROLLAND rides also, a bare-back horse being the steed of her selection, and Mr. ROBERT STICKNEY distributes his body and limbs over the material of a four-in-hand in a most graceful and daring manner. A display of the power of self-dislocation one may acquire is offered by Mr. W. H. LESTER, and a novel act of equilibration is performed by Mr. JAMES MELVILLE and Master GEORGE MELVILLE. Besides the accomplishment of all the perilous tasks set for these human beings, most amusing exhibitions of intelligence are tendered by trick horses and mules, and by poodles of remarkable attainments. In brief, the show is one of exceptional variety and interest, and is altogether harmless. Thus much is not to be said from month to month of any other establishment of the kind, here or abroad; and as the same assurance can be made continually in relation to Mr. LENT'S enterprise, its prosperity is no cause for surprise. Wednesday and Saturday matinees may be attended at the New-York Circus as heretofore.

The Tribune and the Associated Press.

Public attention is called to the following complete answer to the Tribune's repeated charges that its war dispatches have been stolen or used "in an imperfect form" by the TIMES and other newspapers forming the Associated Press, to whom they rightly belonged:

OFFICE NEW-YORK ASSOCIATED PRESS,
NEW-YORK, Oct. 11, 1870.

At a special meeting of the New-York Associated Press, held this day, all the members being present, the following preamble and resolution were adopted:

Whereas, False reports have been published by the Tribune, charging upon several members of this Association the theft, or the improper use in a mutilated form, of special dispatches to that paper, it is hereby

Resolved, That this Association authorizes the contradiction of this report in the papers of the Association. No member of the Association can have an exclusive right to a dispatch of this character, and all who print the whole or any part, as they choose, have an equal right to consider it their own.

(Signed) DAVID M. STONE, President.
ISAAC W. ENGLAND, Secretary.

The Erie Election.

The annual election of Directors of the Erie Railway Company took place yesterday, as we advised our readers in yesterday's issue. And as we also advised our readers, so far as the officers chosen represent the choice of a majority of the bona fide stockholders of the Company, the whole proceeding might have been arranged without the formality of a ballot-box and of redemptioners. A meeting of stockholders, at least of those who were fortunate enough to have heard that an election was proceeding, was called to order at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The preliminary action, as was to have been expected, was the proposal of a series of resolutions indorsing the action and administration of the Board of Directors since 1867. The resolutions were read by the Secretary, HORATIO K. OTIS, Esq. The question as to their adoption was put by Mr. TWEED, the Chairman of the meeting, and a loud response came both from the ayes and nays; the ayes representing some stockholders and also a large force of the attaches of the office apparently deputed for this purpose. The nays came from a small knot of bona fide stockholders, who opposed this feeble protest against any supposed indorsement of the action of the present Board of Directors. The resolutions were declared adopted by the chair. The opposition called for a division, declaring that the resolutions were voted down. Pending a discussion which then ensued, as to whether the division should be taken by the number of voters or in accordance with the amount of stock represented, Mr. JAMES FISK, Jr., stepped forward and called for an adjournment, which was immediately moved by a ready assistant, and the question put and carried almost before the stockholders, who had opposed the resolution, could ascertain what was being done. The Chairman, Mr. TWEED, and the Secretary, Mr. OTIS, then left their seats and the meeting was de facto adjourned.

Talk Among the Republicans Regarding the County Ticket.

How the Democrats Win—Facts Worth Noting.

DEFENSE OF GEN. WOODFORD.

Affidavit of Appleton Oakesmith, in London—The Statements "Absolutely and Unqualifiedly False and Untrue."

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The following important affidavit was made and handed me today:

City and Port of London.—On this, the 11th day of October, A. D., 1870, voluntarily came before me the undersigned, APPLETON OAKESMITH, formerly of New-York, now residing at the Marchnpa Chigwell, who being duly sworn upon the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, did solemnly declare and swear that he has just seen a copy of the New-York Sun, dated Sept. 28, 1870, in which very serious charges are brought against STEWART L. WOODFORD, the Republican candidate for Governor of the State of New-York, in connection with this deponent; it being stated among other things that this deponent bribed the said WOODFORD, in a former official capacity, to do an unlawful and dishonorable act, in alleged connection with the slave trade. This deponent sweats and declares, in the most solemn manner, that the whole of said statements against said WOODFORD are absolutely and unqualifiedly false and untrue. He further declares that he is but slightly acquainted with said WOODFORD, and has neither seen nor heard from him, nor had the slightest communication with him, for over eight years. But in the little intercourse he ever had, with him he always found him and believes him to be a straightforward, honorable gentleman. He further declares that he makes this solemn sworn statement solely as an act of human justice; that he has neither seen nor spoken to any one upon the subject; that he is politically opposed to Mr. WOODFORD, but reprobates in the most unpromising manner such assassin-like party engineering as that referred to, from which this deponent has himself been a sufferer. APPLETON OAKESMITH.

Sworn to before me on this day, and first above written in the City of London. In full [Seal.] testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, at No. 1 Dunster Court, Mincing-lane. I. NUNN,

A London Commissioner to administer oaths in common law.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

Position of the Republicans—What the Rank and File Say—The Proper Action Next Monday Evening.

The all-engrossing topic of discussion in the ranks of the Republican Party of this City, at the present time, is the action most advisable to be taken by the party with regard to the nomination of an independent ticket for City and County officers, at the coming election. The primaries are to be held on Monday evening next, and the County Convention will assemble on the Wednesday evening following. Shall the Convention nominate a straight and party ticket which will stand no possible chance of election, or shall it indorse the ticket of the Young Democracy, or City Reform Party, and help break up a corrupt Ring, which is hostile alike to the Republican Party and to every good citizen of all parties who desires an honest, orderly and economical City Government? If the rank and file of the Republican Party were alone consulted, there would be but one response to this question. Outside of that small faction of nominal Republicans who hold office under Tammany Hall, or are looking to future favors from the "Ring," there are probably not a hundred Republicans in the City who would not rather vote for a ticket nominated by another political organization, provided it is made up of good men, than to run an independent ticket, and thereby insure the election of bad men. There ought, indeed, to be no such thing as political parties, in the general acceptation of the word political, in the municipal elections of this City. The only "parties" recognized by independent voters should be the People's Party against the Rogues' Party—the party of honesty and economy against the party of knavery and plunder. It is a matter of utter amazement to thinking men that the great mass of intelligent citizens of this Metropolis should, year after year, allow a handful of unprincipled politicians to keep up divisions among them on party politics, at our City elections, in order that these same politicians may slip into place and power, and plunder the citizens whom they have thus hoodwinked with their party cry. There is no more reason why a Mayor of the City of New-York should be chosen on party grounds than there is why the captain of a steam-boat or the conductor of a railway train should be selected on similar grounds. And so with other City officers. A merchant does not engage a cashier because he is a Republican or a Democrat; why should he vote for a Controller, who is the cashier of the City, on any such grounds?

But, admitting that party politics should control the action of Republicans at the coming election for City officers, what has the Tammany Ring done for the Republican Party? Has it not by repeating and false counting entirely disfranchised the party in this City? Did it not cheat us out of a Governor fairly elected two years ago? Has it not counted us out of all representation in Congress from this City, and left us but barely one member of the Legislature? Is it not at this moment plotting schemes to facilitate frauds upon the ballot at the coming election, so as to cheat us out of our legitimate vote for Governor and other State officers? What claims has the Ring on Republicans that they should own a separate ticket simply to insure the election of the Ring candidates? None whatever, except that a score or so of pretended Republicans are permitted to hold office and fatten on the Ring plunder, in consideration for their services in engineering the Republican Party of this City in the interest of TWEED, SWEENEY & Co. The rank and file of the Republican Party demand that this thing shall stop. They say in emphatic tones to Police Commissioners HENRY SMITH and HENRY F. MANNERS, and other hucksters of Republican principles, "You must hereafter take your wares to another market; you have sold us out once too often." Better a thousand times that these men, and all Republicans like them, should be kicked out of the party altogether—repudiated, disowned—than that they should remain in our ranks to barter away the votes of honest men in the interest of a gang of thieves. We are informed that at a meeting of the First Assembly District Republican organization, held night before last, and presided over by HENRY SMITH, seventy-five new members were enrolled in violation of the by-laws of the Association, and that every one of these men is a Tammany Democrat, and three of them are members of the Tammany Hall General Committee. These are the kind of men that are to be sent to represent Republicans in the County Convention, on Wednesday next. Democratic policemen, it is rumored, are also to be there, to club Republicans, if necessary, into doing the bidding of Tammany Hall. And these things are brought about by men professing to be Republicans; men who have been honored and trusted and elevated to office time and again by the party. How much longer will Republicans stand such insult? Let them end it at once. Let every Republican organization in the City forthwith expel from its ranks every man known to have any affiliation with Tammany Hall. Send them all in a body to the "wigwam," where they belong. The party might, perhaps, lose by such a course 200 nominal members, but in less than a year it would gain 10,000 zealous, true-hearted, honorable adherents.

These are the sentiments that one hears uttered on every hand by the rank and file of the Republican Party; and they indicate the existence of a feeling that will ere long purify the party in this City and purge its ranks of the trading politicians who have so long controlled its policy and brought it into disrepute, at the same time they have reduced it to a hopeless minority.

The first and foremost duty of the party is to help crush the Democratic "Ring," that has nursed into being this vile brood of pseudo-Republicans; and in order to do that, the Convention should indorse, without hesitation, the nomination of the incorruptible Magistrate, THOMAS A. LEWISON, for Mayor. And if the reform party of the Democracy shall make up the balance of their ticket with the names of equally reputable and trustworthy men, the Convention should indorse the whole ticket. It is in this way, and only in this way, that the Republican Party can make its vote tell at the coming election for City officers in favor of the cardinal principles of Republicanism—"A Government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

HOW THE DEMOCRACY WINS.

A Glance at Recent Charter Elections—Most of the Successful Candidates Elected by Minorities—Tammany Really Beaten Seven Times in Thirteen Years—What Combinations Have Done and May Do.

Most of the TIMES readers will doubtless be surprised when they are told that for fifteen or twenty years past there have been but three or four occasions when the successful candidate for the most prominent City offices honestly had a majority of the popular vote. On looking over the record, we find numerous instances in which the victor might have been overwhelmingly defeated if there had been a combination against him. The Tammany leaders have fought long and well to divide their enemies and consolidate their own forces, and within three or four years have entirely succeeded, but they had a long and severe struggle to become supreme masters of the situation.

Going back to the era of Know-nothingism and the rise of the Republican on the ruins of the old Whig Party, we find that in 1854 there were four candidates for Mayor: JOHN J. HERRICK, Whig; JAMES W. BARKER, Know-nothing; FERNANDO WOOD, Democrats—Tammany, there being none other until he organized his Mozart faction,—and WILSON G. HUNT, Reform. WOOD was elected by 20,022 votes, to 18,587 for BARKER, 15,917 for HUNT, and 5,806 for HERRICK. It is clear that any combination here would have defeated the victor by a large majority. HERRICK and HUNT should have combined and carried off the prize. Had FERNANDO then been defeated, the City would have been saved from the serious consequences of his administrations, police riots included.

The Know-nothings, after this defeat, (DANIEL ULLMAN being their candidate for Governor,) pretty much gave it up as a State party, although they made a good push in 1855 for Sheriff, and for President in 1856. The Soft and Hard war among the Democracy was raging, and the State and City slates presented each four candidates. The newly-organized Republican Party ran WM. S. DUKE for Sheriff, the Know-nothings went for JOSEPH H. TOOZE, the Softs for WM. M. MCINTYRE, the Hards for JAMES C. WILLETT, and ANTHONY J. BLEECKER went in as an Independent. WILLETT got in by 20,061, to 19,028 for TOOZE, 10,634 for MCINTYRE, 8,008 for DUKE, and 4,073 for BLEECKER. Had TOOZE joined with MCINTYRE, or with either of the others, assuming the vote to stand otherwise unchanged, WILLETT would not have been Sheriff.

In 1858 WOOD was in the field for re-election, and, with his customary tact, managed to fill the slate with candidates. The Republicans put up ISAAC O. BARKER, WOOD pretended, to carry all the Democrats. ANTHONY J. BLEECKER ran again, just for the luxury of being defeated. JAMES S. LIBBY, a wandering Democrat, wearied of his hotel, and sought the honors of failure, and, lastly, came JAMES R. WHITING, who was old enough to know better than to play the puppet while grim FERNANDO pulled the wires. WOOD had 34,556 votes; all the others had 42,175; majority against WOOD, 6,609. Had BARKER and BLEECKER united their forces, FERNANDO would have had a break in his chain of luck.

This was signally proved the next year. Amendments to the charter made it necessary to elect a Mayor, and WOOD again took the field. But his administration had disenfranchised the people, and they were bent upon having a change. The Mayor had spared no effort to increase his strength, and every one knew that he would stick at no means to win. After much discussion and many tedious conferences the opponents of WOOD fixed upon DANIEL F. TIEMANN, a moderate Democrat and an honest man, for their standard-bearer. The fight was desperate, as we may remember when we see the vote that year for Secretary of State, footing up 59,770, while that for Mayor was 81,104. The totals were: For TIEMANN, 43,316; for WOOD, 40,882; TIEMANN'S majority, 2,434. Here is clear proof of what honest voters can do if they choose. The City was for the time being relieved of WOOD, and had a safe and honest administration from his successor. WOOD was disgusted, and immediately set about organizing his Mozart Hall Democracy, an organization that gave Tammany a great deal of trouble, and took from her leaders a great deal of money.

The next local election was for Controller. Tammany brought out that bright jewel of their Ring, the pious GEORGE H. PURDER; Mozart made her maiden effort for STEPHEN P. RUSSELL; while the Republicans, with the remnants of the American Party and others, formed a combination on ROBERT T. HAWS. Here, again, a judicious combination showed its power, and HAWS got 38,469 votes, to 18,583 for PURDER and 11,090 for RUSSELL; HAWS beat them both by 9,296 majority. This combination was assisted by many good Democrats, whose moral as well as political ideas were shocked at the character of one of the Democratic candidates.

All this time FERNANDO was trotting assiduously for the election of 1860, when he was strong enough to defy Tammany. Of course, he was nominated for Mayor by his Mozarters. Tammany was a little scared, and sought out a candidate on the ground of respectability, finding such a one in the person of WILLIAM F. HAVEMEYER, a most respectable and wealthy scion of the old Dutch aristocracy. The Republicans put up GEORGE OPDYKE, another Knickerbocker. Tammany's Irish voters did not like the uncouth name of HAVEMEYER, and FERNANDO made them believe that it was a trick to favor the Dutch at the expense of the boys from Green Erin. A great many, in consequence of the ugly-looking name, went over to Mozart. WOOD came out victorious, having 29,940 votes, to 26,018 for HAVEMEYER, and 21,437 for OPDYKE—an enormous poll at that time, being 21,546 more than for Secretary of State. The system of hiring gangs of repeaters and buying up inspectors and poll clerks was just perfected, and worked admirably.

In 1860, while the Democrats had 62,399 for President, and the Republicans only 32,806, there were three candidates for Register—JOHN KETCHUM, Republican and Union; MATTHEW T. BRENNAN, Tammany; and JAS. LYNCH, Mozart. Mr. KETCHUM was elected, having 34,414 votes, to 31,627 for LYNCH, and 26,777 for BRENNAN—Tammany this time marching in the rear. The combination, slight as it was, effected its object, which was the defeat of LYNCH. The vote was only 2,564 less than the unprecedented vote for President.

In 1861 there was a general combination of Unionists on the State ticket, and their candidate was chosen by 177,780 majority. In the City we voted for Mayor, the candidates being GEORGE OPDYKE, Republican; C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Tammany; and FERNANDO WOOD, Mozart. It was a well-contested and close fight. Tammany and Mozart had it hip and thigh; but the loyal horse rose at both factions, and Mr. OPDYKE got in by 24,269 to 24,767 for GUNTHER and 24,187 for WOOD; whole vote, 74,314; for Secretary of State, 57,326 only. The successful candidate for Mayor was, nevertheless, in a minority by 22,864.

The next year the Democratic factions temporarily united, running MATTHEW T. BRENNAN for Controller, and, of course, electing him. ROBERT T. HAWS was his Republican opponent, polling 25,649; BRENNAN, 39,061. HAWS ran ahead of WADSWORTH (Republican, for Governor,) 3,000 votes; BRENNAN ran behind SEYMOUR 15,281.

A Mayor was chosen in 1863, the candidates being ORSON BUNTE, Republican, C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mozart, and FRANCIS I. A. BOOLE, Tammany. The vote was: GUNTHER, 29,121; BOOLE, 22,597; BUNTE, 19,363. A little arrangement between BUNTE and BOOLE might have sent Mr. GUNTHER back to his dummy railroad, and saved the reason and the life of poor FRANK BOOLE. He was overwhelmed by the magnitude of his success, and died while chosen chief of a little ambition, and when he found that he was not elected, his reason gave way, and it soon became necessary to send him to Bloomingdale, where he spent the remainder of his days.

The next year President LINCOLN was reelected, the Democrats making a desperate and almost successful effort to carry this State. In the City the main interest was on Sheriff. The Republicans went for JOHN W. FARNUM, the philanthropist; the Tammany faction put up JOHN KELLY, a very popular Irishman, and the Mozarters ran MICHAEL CONNOLLY, the "Big Judge," also a very popular Hibernian adopted citizen. KELLY won, getting 42,323 to 34,477 for FARNUM, and 28,009 for CONNOLLY. The reader will observe one more in a long list of minority elections in this case; only 42,000 voters wanted KELLY for Sheriff, while 62,000 expressly declared thus they did not want him.

The sweepstakes for Mayor in 1868 will be vividly remembered by the wounds received in the contest are not yet healed. There were four candidates, although Mozart was not openly in the field. The Republicans tried MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, Tammany played as her trump card JOHN T. HOFFMAN, JOHN HECKER, the well-known trimmer, was taken up by the Citizens' Association, and Mr. GUNTHER again ran on his own account. HOFFMAN got in by a tight squeeze, having 32,820 votes, to 31,057 for ROBERTS, 10,960 for HECKER, and 6,766 for GUNTHER. Once more observe that any sort of coalition would have defeated the successful candidate. Practically the vote was, for HOFFMAN, 32,820; against HOFFMAN, 48,806; majority against HOFFMAN, 15,986; yet he was Mayor.

For Controller, in 1868, we had a purely Irish team, so far as names go, though we believe but one of the three was born in Ireland. The Republicans gave 36,407 votes for RICHARD ESSLING; the Tammanyites, 37,187 for RICHARD B. CONNOLLY; the Mozarters got out 19,329 for MICHAEL CONNOLLY. Again, observe the close vote, and see how few of the "Big Judge's" friends might have kept "Slippery Dick" away from the money bags. For the successful candidate, 37,187; against him, 44,301; elected by a minority of 17,154.

Since this election Tammany has had everything her own way in local affairs. In 1869 HOFFMAN, by the false voting and false counting of his totals, beat both DAMIANO and WOOD for Mayor, his votes being 65,651 for WOOD, and 12,498 for DARLING. Mayor HOFFMAN was elected (by fraud) Governor in 1869, and the Mayor's chair was handed over to Mr. A. OAKEY HALL, who still holds it by a somewhat doubtful tenure. His vote in December, 1869, was 75,109, to 20,629 for FRANK A. CONKLING, Republican.

Thus it appears that the people of New-York City, for most of the time, live under the rule of a minority. Here is the summary:

Year.	Officer.	For Elected. Officer.	Against. Against.	Majority. Against.
1854	Mayor	20,022	38,487	18,465
1855	Sheriff	42,323	62,009	19,686
1857	Mayor	34,556	42,175	7,619

1860	Register	34,414	57,404	22,990
1861	Mayor	24,269	49,044	24,775
1861	Comptroller	37,187	44,301	*7,114

1868	Mayor	76,109	20,629	54,374

* Majority for.

For nearly twenty years, up to the Democratic consolidation under HOFFMAN, at which time the audacious naturalization frauds were perpetrated and the boxes stuffed with false ballots, and the poll clerks' returns doctored to suit the interests of the Tammany leaders, we have had but three or four instances in which the officer elected has received a majority of or anything near a majority of the votes cast, to say nothing of the thousands of non-voting citizens, whose absence from the polls is equivalent to voting "No" on the winning candidate. Tammany worked assiduously to get the upper hand; operating upon EICHELSER'S maxim, first to do everything to conciliate, and if that fails, use all her power to crush, she brought her power to its perfect height in 1869, and since then, until the Young Democracy flurry of this canvass, her castle's strength has laughed a siege to scorn. "United we stand" is her motto with friends; "divided we fall" is her motto with foes. Observe and commit to memory the rule, and beware the enemy. In the elections above noted, there are a dozen instances in which the Ring would have been beaten, had there been any disposition to consolidate among the opposition. How much money the Ring-masters paid to keep these hopeless candidates in the field is one of the secrets of the prison-house that is not likely soon to come to the light.

THE BRENNAN DEMONSTRATION.

Cooper Institute Filled with the Adherents of the Gentleman who Wants to be Sheriff—Resolutions and Speeches—Views of Hon. S. S. Cox, Algernon S. Sullivan and Others.

The demonstration of that section of the Democracy who desire to see MATTHEW T. BRENNAN, Ex-Police Commissioner, nominated for the office of Sheriff of the City and County of New-York, took place at Cooper Institute, last evening, and was very respectable in point of numbers, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The back of the stage at the Institute hall was draped with American flags, and in the centre of the draperies was a picture of Mr. BRENNAN. The Brennan Associations from the several Wards were present with banners, which were placed on various parts of the platform. The whole affair was gotten up under the auspices of the Matthew T. Brennan Central Association. When the hour of 8 P. M. arrived the hall was filled. Two brass bands varied the exercises with music.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. WM. H. BURNS, President of the Central Association, and a series of resolutions were then read. Those that referred to the nomination of Gov. HOFFMAN and Mr. BRENNAN called out hearty cheers. The resolutions were adopted, and are as follows:

Assembled in mass-meeting at Cooper Institute, we, the Democracy of the City of New-York, proclaim:

First—That we cordially approve and ratify the declaration of principles adopted at the recent State Convention of the Democracy of Rochester, and the impeachment there made of the vices and defects of the Republican Party we pronounce to be just.

Second—We welcome with joy, pride and enthusiasm as standard-bearers in the present political campaign the nominees for office selected by that Convention; and we cordially support for Governor JOHN T. HOFFMAN; for Lieutenant-Governor, ALLEN C. BEACH; for Controller, ASTON F. RICHMOND; for Canal Commissioners, JOHN D. FAY and GEORGE W. CHAPMAN; and for State Prison Inspector, SOLOMON E. SCHAW.

Third—As Democrats we maintain now as ever before, our faith in the principles and in the party democratic principles in which our institutions were founded. The sole end of government being to secure liberty and justice to the people, we cling to all the safeguards of these objects secured by our fathers, and, in harmony with the genius of our institutions and the enlightened spirit of the age, we continue to be a progressive and advancing party, sympathizing with all just aspirations of the human mind, private and public virtue, and the general welfare and education of our fellow men.

Fourth—Remembering that good old test of qualification for office, "honor to whom honor," we, as advocates for nomination, as next Sheriff of New-York County, Hon. MATTHEW T. BRENNAN, a true Democrat, a virtuous citizen, an honest man, who never betrayed, and never will betray, any trust, public, private or political.

ADDRESS OF HON. S. S. COX.

Hon. S. S. COX was then introduced. He spoke of Mr. BRENNAN as a citizen who had written testimonials as to integrity and ability from the most prominent citizens of New-York. He did not wonder that the name of Gov. HOFFMAN produced enthusiasm. In the Convention which nominated him, there was no difficulty in framing a platform, and that platform, he believed, would be indorsed by seventy-five thousand majority. The Republican Party, indicted by those resolutions, had proved recreant to every one of the best interests of the country, and the Democracy were determined to have no more of it. He would not call them Radicals, if anyone present would if not be well to have a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, in order to check the Senate and the Executive. One they knew was Republican, and the other would be until 1873, after which he (the Executive) would retire to Living Dryden and stay there. It would be for the interest of the country to give the Democracy a majority in the lower House of Congress, for the reason that then, by investigating committees, the departments of the Government could be looked after. Mr. DAWES, a Republican Congressman, not long ago discovered that the Secretary of the Treasury had made a mistake of $23,000,000 against himself. It might happen in the future that some Secretary would make a mistake in his own favor. At any rate, with a Democratic majority in Congress, the Secretary would keep the people fully apprised as to what became of their hard-earned money, paid into the National Treasury in the shape of taxes. The Radicals claimed to be paying off the public debt rapidly. Did the money for its payment come only from their own party? Did the Democracy have no share in the payment of the taxation from which the debt is paid? The Radical Party claim that they are cutting down taxation, while they are at the same time reducing the debts. They could not do both. Either they must be playing the demagogue, or else they are procuring money from sources unknown to the people. They claimed to have reduced taxation on tea, sugar, coffee, and such like articles, but they heaped it on iron. It was a policy that fed the few at the expense of the many. He could prove by the figures, if necessary, that $600,000,000 was paid out of the National Treasury to get that iron into it. Mr. COX then spoke of the presence of Federal bayonets in the elections in North Carolina and Alabama lately, and in Pennsylvania yesterday. "There was pleasure in the thought," he said, "that, as yet, there were no chasseurs d'Afrique here to terrify the voters of the great City of New-York. The threat that there would be a soldiery ready to do the bidding of the Radicals on election day was a mere bruten fulmen. It could not be carried out in this Democratic City."

ADDRESS OF MR. A. S. SULLIVAN.

Hon. ALGERNON S. SULLIVAN, in a lengthened address, urged the claims of the Democratic Party upon the sympathy and support of the masses of the people. He maintained that there

"These," continued the King, "are the forces which have made Italy the mistress of her own destinies. Gathering after a separation of centuries in the one-time capital of the world, she derives from the vestiges of past greatness auspices of the future. You will surround with respect the seat of spiritual dominion enthroned where the Pagan eagles failed to reach. As King and Catholic I guarantee liberty to the Church, unity to Italy, and independence to the Pontiff. So I submit to you the result of the plebiscitum. Transmit it to the Italian people."

A Difficulty Between a Naval Commander and Consul at Honolulu—Respect Paid to the Late Queen Dowager by Force.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—A correspondent, writing from Honolulu, says: Commander TRUXTON, of the sloop of war Jamestown, requested Consul ADAMSON to display his colors at half-mast over the Consular Office, out of respect to the late Queen Dowager; but Mr. ADAMSON declined to do so, on the ground that he had received no official notice of the Queen's death from the United States Minister Resident. Commander TRUXTON immediately ordered Lieut. COCHRANE, with a guard of marines, to put the flag at half-mast by force, if necessary, over the Consular Office. The order was obeyed, the Consul and Vice-Consul resisting. The Honolulu Press are indignant, and pronounce the invasion of Hawaiian territory by an armed force of the United States a high-handed proceeding.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 11.—The difficulty between JAMES BARBOUR, editor of the Enquirer, and Major JAMES W. WALKER, member of the House of Delegates, from Madison County, growing out of an account made by the latter upon the former on the train of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad on Saturday last, terminated last night with a peremptory challenge from Mr. BARBOUR, which was declined this morning on the ground that the State Constitution disfranchises duelists. Col. JOHN S. MOSBY bore Mr. BARBOUR'S message.

Congress on Prison Reform—Declination by the Secretary of a Cincinnati Insurance Company.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—The delegates to the National Congress on Penitentiary Reformatory Discipline have arrived in considerable numbers. A joint meeting was held, this morning, at the Spencer House, of the General and Local Committee of Arrangement. Dr. WINES, of New-York, submitted a letter from Hon. J. G. BLAINE, Speaker of the House of Representatives, in which he says he will be deprived of the great pleasure and profit he should have derived from attending the Convention. The death of Ex-Gov. CORBIT, an intimate friend and neighbor, renders it impossible for him to leave home. The committee voted to make Gov. HAYES, of Ohio, not as the President of the Congress, and to organize and open their sessions for business at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. Several State Governors will be present as members, and more States have sent deputies to represent them. A number of able papers have been communicated from Europe, in addition to those to be presented by Americans. The Congress is expected to continue eight or ten days.... ISAAC C. FELLS, Secretary of the Buckeye Insurance Company, of this city, has been discovered a defaulter in the amount of $11,000. The matter has created surprise in insurance circles.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Yesterday, Oct. 11, as was anticipated, was a very busy day at the Exchange, and a large amount of property was disposed of. At the opening of the day's business, six auctioneers' stands were occupied, and the large number of operators in attendance manifested a decided interest in the proceedings. The bidding on the various lots offered was, to a certain extent, spirited, but most of the property was sold at low figures. The following, in brief, is a report of the transactions; the exact dimensions of the lots struck off, and their location, being more fully defined in the summary.

ROBERTS & MCGUIRE, Col. WM. H. BEERS'S auctioneer, under the direction of D. F. LEARMAN, Jr., referee in a Supreme Court judgment in foreclosure, sold a house and lot, on the south side of Fourteenth-street, between Second and Third avenues, to C. CONDIT for $28,000, which was not considered an extravagant price. The same firm in a Supreme Court sale in partition, JOHN M. SCRIBNER, Jr., referee, then disposed of a number of lots, located as follows, and at the prices annexed: One lot on the south-east corner of Sixty-ninth-street and Ninth-avenue, 25.5x100, $7,800; two lots, adjoining, on Ninth-avenue, same size, $5,000 each; one lot, adjoining, same size, on the avenue, $5,200; two full lots, in the rear of the above, on the south side of Sixty-ninth-street, sold together, $5,000 for the plot. The corner and the two rear street lots were purchased by CATHARINE GRAHAM, and the three avenue lots by B. C. TRONSELL. Seven full-sized lots, on the north side of Sixty-eighth-street, beginning at a point 226 feet west of Eight-avenue, were next sold, under the direction of the last named referee, in the same suit. In the rear of each of these lots is a small rear lot, which was sold with the land which it adjoined. The six lots and gores nearest Eighth-avenue were struck off to JEREMIAH PANGBORN, at prices varying from $4,500 to $5,000, respectively. The seventh lot, 100 feet east of Ninth-avenue, was purchased by JAMES KELLY, for $4,250. The price was very considered fair, but the same property, if put upon the market, would have brought higher figures a year ago.

By JAMES M. MILLER the following property was sold: A three-story brick house, together with a lot, on the south side of Seventy-eighth-street, near Third-avenue, for $12,000; also, a three-story and basement brick house and lot, on the south side of Sixth-street, near Avenue C, for $4,500. Both these sales were made in judgments of foreclosure, and both under the direction of THOS. H. LANGDON, referee. The mortgage foreclosed in the first instance, amounted with interest to $2,100, and at them struck off, both pieces of property were bargains.

At a Sheriff's sale, E. F. RAYMOND disposed of a three-story brick store and lot located on the east side of Washington, near Charlton-street, for $17,500, J. GERICHSON being the buyer. This price, the above includes the sales of property in this City.

In Brooklyn property some important transactions were effected. WYCKOFF & LITTLE selling a large number of lots situated in the Eighteenth Ward of that city, on Broadway and Moffatt-street respectively. At the prices struck off, if really sold, the lots were very cheap. Five lots fronting on Broadway, on the north-east corner of that street and Moffatt, each 20 by 100, brought from $500 to $525 each. Twelve lots in the rear, on the north side of Moffatt-street, of the same size, were then sold, at an average price of $325 to per lot.

MULLER, WILKINS & Co. disposed of three lots of ground, located on the north side of Hopkins-street, in Brooklyn, between Delmonico-place and Thorpe-avenue. The plot is 75 by 100 and upon it are two two-story and basement brick houses in the front, and four two-story frame cottages in the rear. The entire premises were knocked down for $9,000, a very low figure if the sale was a bona fide one.

The above were all the sales made. E. H. JUDLOW & Co. offered four lots in this City, two on One Hundred and Forty-first-street, and two on One Hundred and Fifty-sixth-street, adjoining each other in the rear, and near the Eleventh-avenue Boulevard, for $2,000 each. Also a two-third interest in the lease-hold property, consisting of a sixstory house and lot on the north side of Canal-street, near Elm, now rented at $1,250 per annum, for $8,000. Failing to receive an advance on these figures, the property in each instance was withdrawn.

The sale of four country residences located at Montclair, N. J., noticed for yesterday at the Exchange, by A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BROTHER, was postponed until the 26th inst., when they will be sold by the same firm on the ground.

Among the important sales to take place to-day at the Exchange may be mentioned those of ROBERTS & MCGUIRE, and A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co. The former firm will sell the leasehold property on the east side of Fifth-avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, known as the Glenham Hotel. As the sale, already postponed several times, in all likelihood will be closed today, it is probable, from the value and location of the property, that a large number of interested parties will be attracted thereby to the auction-room. The Messrs. BLEECKER will also offer Fifty-seven property in the neighborhood of Thirteenth-street. This proposed transaction is also one of importance, and should command the attention of capitalists.

Today, should the weather prove favorable, JOHNSON & MILLER will dispose of a large lot of desirable property, located at New-Dorp, Staten Island. The sale will take place at 1 P. M., on the premises. Parties desiring to attend the auction will take the 11 o'clock boat at the foot of Whitehall-street, which will be met by a special train at Vanderbilt Landing. Free tickets can be procured of the auctioneers, No. 25 Nassau-street. The property to be sold is accessible from New-York and commodious, in addition to a number of choice building sites, a desirable country-seat with seventy acres of land. The sale is an absolute one, and the terms upon which the property is offered are liberal. If the weather is stormy the auction will be postponed.

Mr. JAMES MUNSON, Sr., an old real estate operator, and a man well known by all frequenters of the Exchange, died at his residence, in this City, on Monday. His presence will be missed, as he was distinguished by many noble traits of character.

JEROME PARK.

Third Day of the Regular Fall Meeting.

A Threatening Sky—Sprinkle of Rain—Large Attendance of Fashionables—The Turfmen in Full Force—A Fine Day's Work.

The early riser yesterday had good cause for congratulation in the continuation of the lovely weather that has prevailed for a week or more. The sky was clear, the sun glorious, and not a breath of air to stir the withering leaves or raise the anxious dust. It was one of those peculiarly American mornings that have no parallel, save in the famous climate of Italy. Indian Summer is at its height; that dull, dreamy season when all the world seems a vision, and when one should scarcely be surprised to see the most substantial structures fade away, like the mists that on these cool mornings hange over the rivers and the lakes.

"Twas Autumn; over land and main
A veil of warm haze was thrown,
As if the parent Heaven again
Had claimed our planet as its own,
And the blue vestments of the sky
For garments of glory given,
Far scarcely could the dazzled eye
Tell which was earth, or which was Heaven.

It was also the third day of the Jerome Park games, and fair women and brave men were on the lookout for a thoroughly good time. Those who laughed at the clerk of the weather, and went forth to the banquet, realized their highest anticipations; those who were frightened away by a spat of rain lost much real enjoyment.

Being early on the ground we had leisure to appreciate for the hundredth time the charming situation of this most popular resort. The course, with its expansive stands, its elegant clubhouse, its perfect stables, its clean-shaven and well-kept lawns, nestles down among the rough hills of old Westchester, like an emerald set in granite. It is apparently a cul de sac, with no outlet save by the broad avenue running toward the City. Order is omnipresent at Jerome Park. Those who associate boisterousness, rough men and rough manners with racing, would be surprised at the management of this favorite course. With exceptions so rare as to be of no account, the whole day is marked by order almost as perfect as one can find in a private parlor. This excellent discipline has been perfected under the superintendence of Mr. THEODORE MOSS and his assistants, to whom the public are under much obligation.

But the bright morning of yesterday was a delusion. Before noon a blue cloud gathered in the west, and the lowering temperature called up a breeze from the south. There was, for an hour, great preparations for a storm; and hundreds of the fair butterflies, who had donned their gayest colors for the event, either gave up entirely or came up in water-proofs, looking like soiled doves. Yet there was a goodly gathering. The threatened storm did not come. Between the first and second races there was an interval of gloom; the wind wrestled with the trees and tore away the shriveled leaves by millions, and a mere splash of rain, scarcely enough to thoroughly lay the dust, began and ended the storm.

It is hard to be jovial in Autumn days. There is a tinge of melancholy in everything, (except the Pennsylvania election,) and do what we may, this feeling of the supernatural will come over us, especially if we are amid the natural scenery of the country.

'Tis Autumn, and the sun is dim,
As if his fire were nearly gone;
The breeze wails out a solemn hymn,
And all the earth seems sad and lone.

'Tis Autumn, and the faded leaves
Sail slowly down upon the wind,
Leaving, like Death, when he bereaves,
The living germs of hope behind.

It was an exhilirating spectacle to watch the gay equipages emerging from the shades of the grand avenue, and rolling into the clear and cool fields behind the Club-stand. All sorts of vehicles, all sorts of horse-power, and all sorts of dress; but not all sorts of people. Jerome Park has been fortunate in attracting the very best people of our great Metropolis, and every season's experience proves the wisdom of securing the patrons of the Park against the intrusion of any discordant or disagreeable elements. The attendance yesterday, somewhat cut down by the rain, was large, and among those present were many of the representatives of wealth and fashion. Among the ladies of note were Mrs. Belmont, Mrs. Heckscher, Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Bend, Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. Taylor, and others. Aside from turf-men, as such, were Messrs. Duncan, Belmont, Barlow, Cameron, Forbes of Boston, Col. Taylor, Gen. Taylor, Mr. Purdy, Commodore Vanderbilt, the Lorrillard brothers, Judge Monson, Mr. C. Livingston, John Hunter, Mr. Travers, &c. The quarter-stretch was crowded with those wonderful creatures the turf-men, who dream "horse" all night and talk "horse" all day, (and if they were in Paris would eat horse.) There were, among scores whose physiognomies we could not bring to name, these: M. H. Sandford, Francis Morris, John Morris, A. W. Cameron, J. W. Dodwell, of Virginia; G. N. Bowie and F. A. Hall, of Maryland; Judge Munson, D. D. Withers, Hosea B. Perkins, of Washington Heights; J. J. Elkerson, August Belmont, I. W. Jerome, J. O'Donnell, J. Hunter, Harry Genet, T. Puryear, Judge Curtis, T. H. Halliond, F. W. Ea[illegible], A. Babcock, H. T. Helmbold, Bond Bruce, G. Case, J. Kelly, G. Barstow, C. Ranson, John Chamberlain, (without whom a race is naught,) Charles Bathgate, C. Kerner, W. Crawford, H. P. McGrath, John Franklin, T. G. Moore, Dr. Welden, D. Crounse, Lewis G. Morris, Theodore Morris (grand high afterward,) Charles Reed, Wm. B. Duncan, C. Livingston, W. Constable, J. S. Watson, M. Littell, and 100 others.

The lunch, and the wine, and the chatting, and the betting among the charming ladies at the Club stand, was the most delightful feature of the day. "Every woman is born at heart a rake," says a wicked poet. Every woman is by impulse a gamester, saw we. Their heavy play is for hearts; but now and then they condescend to deal with more ordinary matters, and yesterday it was "horse." If there is anything that a woman like more than betting on a horse, the dear creatures are all amateur Rosa Bonheurs, and the amount of wisdom they get off about the four-footed favorite is wonderful, or would be if anybody could understand it. For half an hour before the bell sounded for the first race, the clove betting and champagne betting on the Club stand was lively, and a happier company we have seldom seen.

The second bell! The horses are saddling, and away goes the entire population of the Club stand to the grand stand, where a nearer and a better view of the races and the racers can be had. Down the rustic steps, over the not very picturesque bridges, the gay procession streams, like a rainbow on a bender, and in a moment the ladies' division of the grand stand is blooming like a flower-garden in June. Here the bantering and the betting continue, without the slightest reference to the value of their investments, and the brain of many a cavalier will ache long and hard before he can remember how many boxes of gloves or how many dozens of wine his infatuation with some fair creature is going to cost him.

A tap of the bell—a moment of suspense—five high-mettled animals, straining at the bit—a slackening of the curb—a bound! "Go!" cries the starter, and they are off, followed by thousands of eyes that would not turn from the sight to read the writing on Belshazzar's palace walls. Here they come, like a run-away whirlwind; and now it is a whip and spur, and shouts, and cheers—Niagara just flies her noble name, and wins the field. But the racing we leave to our friend, the doctor, whose minute and accurate detail of the day's sport will rescue this article from oblivion.

Getting home is one of the amusing features of the racing. The last struggle is over, the last pool and the last bet decided, and now for the carriages and the cars. Laura Matilda steps gingerly into the family coach, wrapped in a lush shawl and an air of lassitude; in ten minutes she is asleep, but it is pure work-manship—her husband has nothing to do with it. Pater familias, who has lost a five, rolls in and grunts down into a corner as sour as a bear. On the box, vainly pulling at a cigar that is not lighted, and swaying to and fro in imminent danger of falling off and breaking its black neck, is the hope of the family; he has been betting on the winning horse, and the boys have "struck him" for the wine; but, like a provident fellow, he has got his share. Away over the hills fly the rough and ready crowd of hacks, and drags and buggies, and wagons, anything that can carry mortality—anything except the beasts. The Club folks go down the private road; the outside world meets them at the avenue junction, and thence forward to Spuyten Duyvel. It is a mixture where the hod-carrier jostles the millionaire, and nobody is any the worse, or any the better. Up the steps at the east screams the host of wise men, who find far less expense and adequate enjoyment in a democratic ride to and from the course in the cars. In half an hour from the last heat the grounds are deserted, and

"Silence settles long and still O'er brook and river, vale and hill."

Reiterating that the management of the justly-renowned course is most admirable, that its appointments are of the best character, and the enjoyment usually of the highest order, we hold our pen for the present. But let us suggest that the Harlem Railroad Company ought to buy a new clock. They regularly advertise a train for the races to start at 11½ A. M. They just as regularly do not start until 12 or after—which is a miserable deception.

THE RACING.

The racing was of a highly interesting character, and was distinguished by the defeat of two favorites on the four races run. That of Glenely in the first race, the Grand National handicap, created quite a sensation, for the winner, Niagara, had been beaten by Cortelyou in the first race of the meeting, also a handicap, and the public had lost all faith in her for this race. Not so her owner, Mr. SANFORD, for well aware of the filly's racing merits when in fit, he backed her with spirit for this event, and his confidence was repaid by his winning over $10,000 on the race. Glenely first made the heavy weight and gave away (10 pounds) that he had to carry, and he could only gain third place. Mr. MORRIS' colt Cheseler performed most ingloriously, and he has so repeatedly disappointed the stable when they had the money on and he was a favorite, that we presume they will not trust him again in a hurry.

The Champagne Stakes produced a good race among the six two-year olds that started, and against the trusted representative of the Holmdell stable disappointed his party. The race was won by Mr. SANFORD's filly, Madame Dudley, a lengthy, racing-like filly, by Lexington, out of Sportsmen by Flying Dutchman, a mare purchased of the late JOHN OSBORNE, by Mr. R. BRUCE, and imported into Kentucky. She won in grand style, and with so much in hand that it is impossible to say how good she really is. Had she started in the Nursery Stakes, it is more possible that the name of Madame Dudley would have been enrolled, in place of that of Harry Bassett, among the winners of the Nursery Stakes. Mr. SANFORD was warmly congratulated by the leading turfmen present on the few successive victories which had crowned his efforts that afternoon.

The Annual Sweepstakes, worth over $6,000, proved a walk-over for Kingfisher, and Mr. BELMONT has now got back $12,000 of the $15,000 he paid Mr. SWIGERT for him. He has still some valuable engagements, and is likely to prove a valuable horse to the powerful Babylon stable.

The last race was a highly interesting one, and produced a capital race between Judge Curtis and Midday, the former carrying 114 pounds and the latter 92 pounds. Victory favored the Judge, who won cleverly, and showed himself to be a wonderfully fast and game horse. His trainer brought him to the post in the perfection of condition, and he never gave his backers the slightest uneasiness throughout the race.

THE GRAND NATIONAL HANDICAP.

This was a sweepstakes of $100 each, half forfeit, with $1,000 added, of which $200 went to the second horse; 16 had four runners. The distance was two miles and a quarter, and, by the conditions, a winner of $1,000, after the publication of his weight, had to carry 5 pounds extra, of $2,000, 7 pounds extra. The starters were A. BELMONT's b. c. Glenely, 4 years, 110 pounds, (including 5 pounds extra); BACON & HOLLAND's ch. c. Mosart, 4 years, 97 pounds; M. H. SANFORD's b. f. Niagara, 4 years, 103 pounds, and F. MORRIS' br. c. Cheseler, three years, 88 pounds. In the pool-betting, Glenely was the favorite, selling for $610; Cheseler, $120; Mosart, $100; Niagara, $80. Mosart made the running, with Niagara at his quarters and Glenely third for two miles. Niagara then challenged, and in a few strides had Mosart beaten, and won the race cleverly by a length; Glenely was third, four lengths behind Mosart, and Cheseler beaten off. Time—4:00¾.

FIRST RACE.—The Grand National Handicap Sweepstakes, $100 each, half forfeit, and only $20 if declared, with $1,000 added, of which $200 to the second horse. After publication of weights, winner of $1,000 to carry 5 pounds extra; of $2,000, 7 pounds; of $3,000, 10 pounds. Two miles and a quarter.

THE TWO-YEAR OLDS.

This race for two-year olds came next, $100 each, half forfeit, with $500 added, one mile. There were eleven youngsters entered, six of which started. These were: M. H. SANFORD's b. f. Madame Dudley, J. O'DONNELL's ch. f. Fanchon, L. MORRIS' b. f. by Australian, dam Gilda; F. MORRIS' b. c. Barbarian, D. D. WITHERS' ch. f. Corona, and HUNTER & TRAVERS' b. c. President. Barbarian, a full brother to Ruthless and Remorseless, was made the favorite, bringing in pools $120, Corona $60, JEROME'S $55, Fanchon $50, Madame Dudley $35, and President $15. Fanchon jumped off in the lead, and with the Gilda filly second, President third, and Madame Dudley fourth, made the running for nearly three-quarters of a mile. Here, Madame Dudley, who had passed Gilda and President, challenged Fanchon, had her safe after a brief struggle, and won the race easily by six lengths; President, who came at the finish, a bad third; President fourth, and Corona last. Time—2:50¾.

SECOND RACE.—The Champagne Stakes, for two-year olds, of $100 each, half forfeit, with $600 added. The winner of any stake at Jerome Park, Long Branch or Saratoga to carry 7 pounds extra; of two of those stakes, 10 pounds extra. One mile. Eleven subscribers.

THE ANNUAL SWEEPSTAKES.

The Annual Sweepstakes of $300 each, half forfeit, for three-year olds, $1,500 added, two miles, had twenty-six nominal entries, but none durst meet the great crack Kingfisher, who consequently gulloped over for the $7,250, the net value of the stake.

THE FOURTH RACE.

This was a sweepstakes for all ages, of $25 each, pay or play, with $300 added, three-quarters of a mile. The winners were BR. MORRIS' gr. f. Felicity, and R. G. THOMAS' br. f. Kingo. The betting was $100 to $150 on Felicity, who led through out, and won easily in 1:20¾.

FOURTH RACE.—Sweepstakes for all ages, of $25 each, play or pay, with $300 added; three-quarters of a mile.

THE FIFTH RACE.

This race was for a purse of $300, mile and three-quarters, and the runners were R. W. WALDEN's ch. h. General Yorke, J. O'DONNELL's ch. h. Judge Curtis, H. P. MCGRATH's b. f. Susan Ann, and THOMAS W. DODWELL's b. f. Midday. The betting was: Judge Curtis 100, General Yorke $1,000; Midday for $100; General Yorke, $210; Susan Ann, $60. Judge Curtis made the running from the fall of the flag, with Susan Ann second and Midday third. They ran thus for a mile and a half, when Midday took second place, and in another half mile the horses made their run to capture Judge Curtis. But the latter shook her off, and after a fine struggle won the race by a length, Midday ten lengths before Susan Ann, and General Yorke last. Time 2:12¾.

FIFTH RACE.—Purse $300. Entrance money to second horse. One mile and three-quarters.

Kings County Agricultural Fair—The Opening Day—The Races.

The first agricultural and horticultural Fair ever held in Kings County, opened under rather unauspicious circumstances, yesterday, at the Prospect Park Fair Grounds. The weather was of a character to keep all but the most ardent patrons of the enterprise from the grounds, and many exhibitors who will doubtless appear today, failed to enter their commodities. As it was, however, the general display within doubtless not apart for works of art, mechanical skill, &c., was good. Whatever the Fair lacked from an agricultural point of view, however, it certainly made up in sport on the track, for the two trots announced to come off during the afternoon were closely contested. The first race was for horses that had never beaten 2:35, and for which there were nine entries, seven of which came on the track, and which resulted in favor of JOHN MURPHY's br. g., David Bonner, in three straight heats, who took first money; E. O. WHITE's ch. m. Fanny Fern taking second, and HIRAM HOWE's b. m. Lady Emily third.

The race was finely contested, Silverdell taking the first heat, and Robin the second, third and fourth, the time in all four of the heats being excellent.

Another Fatal Accident on the Erie Railway.

An oil train on the Erie Railway ran off the track near the Rock Tavern, yesterday morning. Two cars were smashed up, but the remainder of the train was only slightly damaged. While the hands were engaged, before daylight, in removing the débris and getting the train in order, HENRY CAINES was knocked down by the sudden start of the engine and was almost instantly killed, the wheels passing over his body. He resided in North Third-street, Jersey City.

Departure of the Cimbria.

The steam-ship Cimbria, of the Hamburg line, sailed yesterday, carrying about eighty passengers. She passed down the Bay early in the afternoon, and was not followed by the French corvette, being protected by the proclamation of neutrality.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

There were five sentences imposed, as follows, on prisoners at the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Judge BEDFORD, who presided in the place of Recorder HACKETT, the latter being detained at home by illness: JOHN KELLY, pickpocket, State Prison for four years and six months; JOHN KENNY, pickpocket, State Prison for four years and nine months; GEORGE QUINLAN, otherwise Edward Smith, larceny, State Prison for four years; FREDERICK LIEBERMAN, larceny, Penitentiary for one month and fifteen days; WM. PARKS, larceny, Penitentiary for six months.

Mr. THOS. A. CALLOWAY, the proprietor of an establishment in the Third-avenue wherein he rents to sewing-girls and others sewing-machines at a rental of $4 per month, appeared before Judge WARTMAN, at the Fourth District Court, yesterday, in an action of replevin for the recovery of a sewing-machine rented to Miss MARY E. CAGE, in September, 1869. Miss CAGE stated that she hired the machine from the plaintiff with the understanding that the rental ($4) should be applied as purchase money. The value of the machine was $65, and she had paid $44 in rent. She was willing to pay the balance, wherein it was agreed that if default was made in payment the rental should be forfeit. She was defended by Col. CAGE, who contended that the contract was void, and asked some damages. The case was decided in her favor.

The steam-ship Nebraska, which arrived at London from New-York a few days ago, had a narrow escape from destruction. On the 19th of September she sprung a leak, and the water rose so high as to fill the stoke hole. It was thought by all on board that the steamer would go down. To make matters worse, the woodwork around the boiler took fire, and was only put out by the greatest exertions. The vessel made port at last barely floating.

The annual session of the School of Law commenced, yesterday morning, at the New-York University, Washington-square. A preliminary meeting for the formation and organization of the law classes for this year was held in the council-room of the University. In the absence of Mr. E. DELAFIELD SMITH, Mr. DAVID R. JACQUES presided, and enrolled the names of all the students who were present and desired to attend the law classes for this year.

Mr. JAMES MUNSON, Sr., who died at his residence, No. 234 West Thirty-second-street, on Monday evening, was an old resident of this City. His business was that of a real estate operator, having followed it for thirty-five years, and in this particular line few men were better known. Honest in all his dealings, of a genial disposition and a large heart, he had many friends and few enemies. The time of his death he was nearly sixty-five years of age.

MICHAEL HEALEY, JOHN SLATTERY and JOHN MCGOVERN, parties residing in the Fourth Ward, and members of the William Welsh Association, entered the saloon of CHAS. D. DOSCHER, at No. 23 Oliver-street, yesterday morning, and destroyed nearly every moveable article in the place. They were arrested and arraigned before Alderman COMAN, at the Tombs, who fined them three each to the Island for six months in default of $1,000 bail each for future good behavior.

At the Court of Special Sessions, yesterday, PATRICK MCDONALD pleaded guilty to having made an assault on Mrs. MARY TOOKER, the mother of Ex-Marshal TOOKER, at her residence, Norfolk-street. It appeared that the prisoner begged for bread, and that he struck the complainant while she was in the act of giving it to him. He was sent to the Penitentiary for six months by Judge SHANDLEY, besides being fined $50.

Assistant Assessor WILLIAM M. HARDING, charged REUBEN F. POLLARD and J. RITTER, tobacco dealers, of No. 115 Pearl-street, and WILLIAM F. REYE and JOHN C. CATTRES, tobacco dealers, of No. 129 Pearl-street, before Commissioner SHIELDS, yesterday, with having failed to make an account of their sales and purchases as required by law. The accused each gave $1,000 bail to answer.

The father of Justice DOWLING was taken with a paralytic fit yesterday morning about 5 o'clock as he was leaving the house to attend—as was his wont, for many years—the early mass at the Church of the Transfiguration in Mott-street. He has since been unconscious, and is not expected to survive many hours.

In the Supreme Court, Special Term, yesterday, before Judge BARTLETT, the case of CHARLOTTE HOAR vs. WM. A. HOAR, was called up and referred to Mr. WILLIAM BARTLETT. The action is brought by the wife to obtain a decree of separation on the ground of neglect and cruel and inhuman treatment.

JAMES WILKINSON was arraigned before Commissioner OSBORN, yesterday, on a charge of selling eleven packages of whisky without a Government stamp, at 1
